R. J. WENSLEY, inventor of a mechanical man that unveiled a statue of George Washington, believes that men made of metal will liberate us from industrial slavery, as Washington liberated us from European tyranny.

WORKERS need not fear that metallic "robots" will ruin the labor market. Long ago mechanical men and women made their appearance in machinery of all kinds driven by steam and electricity. One machine does the knitting for ten thousand women, one locomotive pulls the load of a thousand stage coaches, replacing 3,000 drivers.

THE perfected machine will not be an imitation man standing upright on two legs. That position man achieved to look out over high grass for enemies and prey in the beginning and to look up at the stars later. Mechanical men can be only an interesting curiosity, not an industrial success. Science improves on nature and does not imitate it, the ultimate flying machine without bird wings or methods will prove that.

A NEW flying machine idea based on "free energy" or "magnetic" power interests Lindbergh and others. It burns no fuel, is expected to fly for two thousand hours, and Lester J. Hendershot, the inventor, is full of hope. It is only hope as yet, although the working model performs well. Eventually, no doubt, as Tesla and others believe, flying machines will pick up "wireless power" from the earth, borrowing from Niagara, the Colorado River and other sources as they fly around the world. That will solve power problems and 1,000 miles an hour speed will annihilate distance.

THIS will interest farmers' wives. Mrs. James Hamilton of Pawhuska, Okla., not satisfied with 30 cents a dozen for eggs, developed this idea. She knew how to make good angel cake. Eleven eggs make a cake that sell for a dollar. Cost of other ingredients amount to little. Mrs. Hamilton put her eggs in angel cake and got nearly one dollar a dozen.

MANY farm wives, however, far from any angel cake market, can sympathize with an Irish farmer asked by an efficiency many "Do you know what the ducks swimming in that mudhole would be worth in London?"

"I do," replied the farmer, "and have you any idea what that puddle of water would be worth in hell if I had it there?" The market is the problem.

THOMAS HARDY, novelist and writer of poetry, dead at 87, left half a million dollars. He orders an edition of his poems at a reasonable price within reach of poorer readers. And to his wife, 40 years younger than he, in whose arms he died, Hardy leaves three thousand a year, and that will be cut in half if she remarries.

The "poorer readers" could get along without Hardy's poems, for Hardy as poet can be fairly described as Lowell unfairly described Wordsworth, that divinely inspired, wise, deep, tender, grand bore. Only Hardy's great age, which sometimes hardens heart and brain, can excuse such treatment of a wife who gave up a promising career to marry an old man.

DELEGATES of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music hunting strange folk songs heard an Alaska Indian youth singing "My Love Is Like a Fish." Human beings always compare a loved one to something they admire. In the Congo, where "the fatter the lady the greater her beauty," a man would compare his lady love to a fat hippopotamus and consider it a great compliment. The wealth-loving civilizee compares his lady's hair to gold, teeth to pearls, lips to coral or rubies. No great difference.

STALIN, who rules Russia, with Lenin dead and Trotsky sent into exile, says millions of workers throughout the world are ready to join Russia's Red Army when it starts conquering. If Stalin relies on that, he has awaiting him a surprise as complete as the one he prepared for Trotsky. If the "Red Army" starts marching every other country will raise a labor army to stop it. All armies are 90 per cent labor armies and all men forget theories and fight for their country when war comes.

A FRENCH flier surpasses the American "loop record" by turning eleven hundred and eleven aerial somersaults with a monoplane in four hours and fifty-six minutes. That is exactly as unimportant as the number of back somersaults turned by a circus actor. It is thinking and inventing that count, not "stunts."

PANAMA-BOUND BLIMP NEAR GOAL

DUE TO LAND AT 10

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The naval dirigible Los Angeles is making steady progress on her non-stop flight to Panama.

A message to the Navy Department this morning from Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl, aboard the dirigible, reported that she had passed Santa Cruz Del Sur, Cuba, at 6:40 a. m., and that the weather was favorable.

A later wireless from Commander Rosendahl reported the big dirigible was off South Negril Point, Jamaica, at 10:07, eastern standard time.

The message said the ship had averaged 50 miles an hour from Cuba to that point, and had about 650 miles yet to cover before arriving in Panama. On this schedule, Navy officials said the Los Angeles would be due in Panama about 10 o'clock tonight.

The big silver ship reached and passed Nassau, in the Bahamas, at 1:15 o'clock this morning, and a short time later Lieut. Commander Rosendahl, commanding, advised the Navy Department by radio that he was striking on for Panama.

No speed record is being attempted. The trip, Navy officials explained, is merely to try out the air worthiness of the dirigible on a "long practice cruise."

When the dirigible left her han-

WRECKED IN OCEAN

The Ford flying flivver, said to be the smallest flying craft in the world, lost at sea off the coast of Melbourne, Fla. The plane plunged into the ocean during a flight which Harry Brooks was making from Titusville, Fla., to Miami. Brooks was on his way to visit Henry Ford in Southern Florida and report to him in person the results of a non-stop flight from Detroit to Florida made in the flivver plane. What caused his plunge into the sea is unknown.

HARRY BROOKS

Ford's chief test pilot is missing and feared dead. Searchers who got near the plane wreckage in the ocean failed to see any sign of Brooks. The searchers were prevented by a stormy sea from making a rescue attempt.

BROOKS BODY LOST

By International News Service.

MELBOURNE, Fla., Feb. 27.—The ill-fated flivver plane in which Harry Brooks, chief test pilot for the Ford Company, apparently lost his life in attempting to fly from Titusville to Miami late Saturday, drifted onto the beach near here today.

The plane was found on the beach about 16 miles below here, just as a dozen coast guard vessels and fishing schooners were to resume their search for the ship which suddenly disappeared Sunday while efforts were being made to haul it ashore.

The body of Brooks was not found in the plane, confirming stories of eye witnesses that the pilot was seen standing on the wing of the ship, waiting for a chance to jump before the craft hit the waves. Ford Company officials had said Brooks was strapped to his seat.

Brooks took off for Miami late Saturday to complete his flight from Detroit. He had been forced to land at Titusville by a leaking gas line and also to repair his propeller. It was the second time Brooks had attempted a non-stop flight from Detroit to Miami, the first attempt having ended when he was forced to land in North Carolina.

The flivver plane was badly smashed and one wing and the propeller were torn off. The gas tank was intact, but the machine was so torn up that little could be learned from a preliminary investigation as to what caused the plane to crash.

Walking across the street in front of her home to buy a pretzel, Frances Boyle, 3, 4[illegible] 12nd Ohio street, was struck by a taxicab and suffered a possible concussion of the brain. She was taken to the Allegheny General Hospital by a police patrol wagon, passing at the time. Norman Kalina, 20, Tripoli street, driver of the taxicab, was arrested.

Morin Not Out of Race

Congressman John M. Morin has not abandoned the idea of running for United States Senator against David A. Reed.

During a visit here today for the purpose of discussing the situation with friends from Western Pennsylvania counties, Morin said he would issue a statement telling his intentions before the end of this week.

Simultaneously with his visit Alderman P. J. Sullivan, who has been slated by organization leaders of the Thirty-fourth district to succeed Morin, was approached with proposals to withdraw from the fight. Sullivan responded with a definite refusal.

"Sullivan is in the fight to a finish and cannot be persuaded to withdraw," said Councilman James F. Malone, the alderman's campaign manager.

In spite of the absence of a definite statement from Morin, his friends say he will oppose Reed unless Sullivan is taken out of the fight.

"Will the Vare organization support you in case you run against Reed?" he was asked.

"That is something for Senator Vare to answer," Morin replied.

COOKSLAIN; 7 HELD

In the kitchen of the Blue Bird Restaurant, 607 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, the body of Steve Manos, 36, of Ninth avenue, Munhall, was found this morning with a bullet wound in the face.

The body was found by Patrolman Harry Miller who entered the restaurant when attracted by the smoke from burning meat, which Manos had been preparing for a sandwich. Manos' pockets had been rifled, but the cash register was not.

Seven persons have been arrested by Homestead police in connection with the case. They are Steve Aggoras, the dead man's partner; Robert Adams, Negro dishwasher; William Henshaw, Negro, of 543 Sixth avenue, Braddock; Pete George, 21, of 405 McClure street; Oscar Fields, Negro, and George Sulis, both of a construction camp near Hays, and Ala Robertson, a Negro, of Eighth avenue, Homestead.

Police say Manos was reputed to have carried a large amount of money, and believe the murderer entered the restaurant, and after giving an order to Manos for food, followed him into the kitchen and fired the fatal shot.

Beaver Man Dies In Plane

BEAVER, Pa., Feb. 27.—Sam Nesbit Craig, 43, of Beaver, prominent Beaver valley business man, was burned to death in a mail airplane crash near Marquette, Neb., yesterday, in a flight from Chicago to Los Angeles on a business trip. The plane, piloted by Frank Yeager, of Cheyenne, Wyo., swept into a grove of trees, caught fire and crashed to the ground, a mass of flames.

Craig, unable to extricate himself from the wreckage, was burned beyond recognition. Yeager was catapulted from the plane, falling about 30 feet, and was injured seriously.

Craig's body was taken to Aurora, Neb. An undertaker there telegraphed the Beaver postmaster for identification.

Constitutional Rights Violated, Free Speech Denied, Probers Declare.

ROSSITER, Pa., Feb. 27.—A violation of the miners' constitutional rights, was the designation by members of the Senate coal strike investigating committee, when discussing the injunction of Judge J. M. Langham, under which the miners of this district are restrained from picketing. The injunction, one of the most drastic ever issued, preventts picketing, advertising by the union and prohibits free speech. It was declared to be a breeder of anarchy.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, New York, launched a verbal barrage against it while quizzing A. J. Musser, general manager of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation. Senator Frank R. Gooding, chairman, admitted that he had not read the injunction, but Senator Wagner not only had read it, but studied it and was prepared for the examina-

Stories of Atrocities Related—Committee Denounces Coal Company.

At morning and afternoon sessions brimming with startling utterances, which kept the auditors almost breathless with attention that they might not miss a single word, the Senate committee investigating the coal strike here, yesterday probed into the conduct of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, its strikers, strikebreakers and coal and iron police, grilled President Horace F. Baker and Vice President G. F. Osler, heard stories of atrocities related by members of families of the United Mine Workers, and for the first time, not only asked questions, but freely expressed their own opinions.

They told President Baker that the conditions which they had found in the company's camps were

What Senators Found!

After four days of work here the Senate Sub-Committee investigating the Pittsburgh coal strike today summed up the situation as follows:

"Conditions which exist in the strike torn coal regions of the Pittsburgh district are a blotch upon American civilization. It is inconceivable that such squalor, suffering, misery and distress should be tolerated in the heart of one of the richest industrial centers of the world.

"The committee found men, women and children living in hovels which are more insanitary than a modern swine pen. They are breeding places for sickness and crime.

"They constitute fertile fields for the sower of communism and other doctrines which teach the overthrow of the American government. Industrial leaders of America cannot permit such conditions to continue.

"The dispute in the Pittsburgh soft coal fields is more than a local fight between a union and a group of coal operators. It is an industrial war that affects the entire nation. A remedy must be found to relieve the shocking conditions which the committee found in its firsthand survey in the coal mines and camps."

PGH. MAN'S MOTOR IN N. Y. WITH LINDY

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Guarded carefully from prying eyes on the seventh floor of the Biltmore Hotel, a little chunk of mechanism which may revolutionize the automotive world, and perhaps living conditions of millions of persons, is secreted today.

It is the electro-magnetic motor created by Lester J. Hendershot, freelance engineer of West Elizabeth, Pa. For the last three days knowledge of the reported perfection of Hendershot's invention has caused widespread interest among scientists and electric engineers.

The motor was brought to New York either by Maj. Thomas Lanphier or Col. Charles A. Lindbergh late Saturday afternoon, Universal Service learned.

TWO DYING IN P.R.R. CRASH

By International News Service.

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 27.—Traveling about 70 miles an hour to make up lost time, the second or Pinehurst section of the Pennsylvania Railroad's fast Washington-New York Express train, No. 192, was derailed near Marcus Hook today, resulting in probable fatal injuries to two members of the crew.

A number of passengers were shaken up when the locomotive, three Pullman cars and a dining car left the rails. The engine is reported to have overturned. C. L. Bohl and T. S. Kilroy, both of Washington, members of the crew, were badly scalded and taken to the local hospital. There is little hope for their recovery.

FISHER "OUT" AS SENATORS CALL

INDIANA, Pa., Feb. 27.—Gov. John S. Fisher is not at home today, for the first time in many weeks the state's chief executive failed to spend the week-end here, as has been his usual custom, and members of the United States Senatorial subcommittee, which arrived here to investigate conditions in the Central Pennsylvania coal fields, are somewhat disappointed. Some of the members thought perhaps the Governor would pay his respects to the lawmaking representatives of the nation, at least. Some even thought the Governor might welcome an interview.

The Governor's name was mentioned frequently during conferences last night. At one time it was brought out that Mr. Fisher, before taking office, was a vice president of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation, a subsidiary of the New York Central Railroad. The committee is visiting one of the Clearfield mines at Rossiter, near here, said to be one of the worst spots in the Pennsylvania mining war.

VISITORS NOT WELCOME

Coal operators have appeared eager for the senators to visit Rossiter for reasons best known to themselves. A report was brought to the committee in session last night by one of the members of the senatorial party that one of the operators who had called on the committee earlier in the evening was overheard to remark, "For God's sake, keep them out of Rossiter." The report was carried privately to Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, who insisted that the entire committee be told of the incident.

Considerable discussion had preceded the report whether or not it was advisable to visit Rossiter because of the bad condition of the roads. Senator Frank R. Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the subcommittee, expressed a fear that they might not get back to Indiana in time to catch their train for New York.

The coal operators who called on the committee left a list of suggested mines they requested the senators to visit. The trip outlined by the operators would necessitate laying over in this district one more day if the Rossiter trip were to be made, and another day in the field was out of the question, Senator Gooding declared.

DUE BACK TUESDAY

"Our committee must be in Washington no later than Tuesday morning and it is imperative that we leave here tonight," insisted Senator Gooding. "If visiting these mines suggested by the operators interferes with our trip to Rossiter, we must pass over the operators' suggestions. Rossiter has been brought to our attention so forcibly on the floor of the Senate as well as in the field, that I feel our trip would not be complete without having made a thorough investigation of the disgraceful conditions reported."

Both representatives of the operators and officials of the United Mine Workers of America are accompanying the senatorial party today. There is no fraternizing between the leaders of both sides in this bitter strife between capital and labor. The union chiefs are traveling together and the operators are by themselves.

Members of the committee are traveling in their own automobiles, with a large party of newspaper men at their heels.

All Indiana stood agap this morning as the long string of automobiles pulled out from the Moore Motel, headquarters of the committee here. It is the first time this town has had such important visitors on such an important mission. True, Indiana has a Governor, but there are United States Senators.

ASK FARMS FOR DOPE ADDICTS

This is the eighth of a series of articles by Winifred Black exposing conditions resulting from wholesale uncurbed sale of "dope" and the growth of the drug evil in the United States.

By WINIFRED BLACK.

What about Federal farms for addicts?

Why wouldn't it be a good idea to take the addicts out of the Federal prisons and put them all on an addict farm? Keep them where they couldn't infect other people with the terrible disease of addiction and see if there is any possible way of curing those already addicted?

Congressman Porter, of Pennsylvania, has introduced a bill into Congress providing for two such Federal farms for addicts.

WINIFRED BLACK

The Federal prisons are terribly overcrowded. Atlanta prison is packed to suffocation and so is Leavenworth, and 60 per cent of the prisoners in these two institutions are addicts.

Two new prisons will have to be built anyway—why not make them addict farms, and get the addicts out of the regular Federal prisons?

Hope for Hopeless.

Why not let the different states send their addict prisoners to these prison farms—and each state pay exactly what the cost of that prisoner would be in the state institution.

Why not get the addicts off the streets and out of the prisons and out of the county jails and out of the city jail—and out of the county hospital—into the Federal farm for addicts.

This plan of Representative Porter would take the addict out of the community and put him where he cannot spread his dreadful disease.

It would give helpless, well-meaning addicts a chance to be sent somewhere for a cure.

It would bring hope to the hopeless, and it would remove a terrible peril from our communities.

A "dope" addict is a disease carrier—and the disease he carries is worse than smallpox, and more terrible than leprosy.

Why not isolate him as you would a leper?

Give Them a Chance.

Why not put the poor creature somewhere where he can be cared for and looked after?

They arrested a man in Toledo two weeks ago, a harmless, kindly man, middle-aged, well-educated, fairly well-dressed—a narcotic addict.

They caught him buying his "dope" from a "dope" peddler.

The addict was not a criminal. He was a sick man, a very sick man—and what did they do with him?

They threw him into jail—into a dark cell, with a stone floor, and no windows—and when they went to take him his supper at night they found him hanging from the door.

He had taken his belt and committed suicide.

Suicide Common.

These things are happening all over the country—all the time.

Men, yes and women too, whose only crime is that they are the victims of a horrible disease—are locked up in jails with thieves and murderers and the percentage of suicide among them is no less than horrifying.

The criminal addict is a different matter—but why let him out of prison to go and make more addicts?

Why not keep them locked up where they have a chance to get the poison out of their systems and come back to normal and keep them there until they are normal?

Why will this not cut down the demand for narcotics?

Destroy the market, and you destroy the supply. Why shouldn't that statement hold good in this particular market, as well as in any other?

What a wonderful thing it would be if we could wake up some morn-

MUST HAVE UNION OR I. W. W.

In impassioned words, and with his voice ringing with emotion, Senator Frank R. Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the Senate committee investigating the coal strike, Sunday solemnly warned the coal operators of Pittsburgh, as represented by Horace F. Baker, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, that in refusing to deal with the United Mine Workers, they were aiding and abetting criminal labor organizations which have as their ultimate object the destruction of the government.

The warning came after Baker had said that, while he wanted it understood he was not an anti-union man, he did not propose to make a settlement with the union.

Sounds Warning.

"As an intelligent man, which you are," said Senator Gooding, "you surely know that you are either going to have the United Mine Workers or the Industrial Workers of the World. You are aiding and abetting the most dangerous labor organization that the world has ever known, one that aims to destroy the government itself."

"I don't think," said Baker, "that in Western Pennsylvania the Industrial Workers of the World will be able to control industry."

In answer Gooding recounted experiences that he himself had had with criminal labor organizations in the West—experiences so painful, he said, that he wanted to forget them, and which he requested the newspaper men present not to report.

Some time later in the course of the committee's conference with Baker, which lasted more than two hours, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana asked: "Don't you think that in this day of great combinations of wealth, labor has got to have organization and collective bargaining to get representation?"

"Fifteen years ago," answered Baker, "that may have been true, but times have changed."

"Hasn't every advance that has been made in the condition of the working people been due to organized labor?"

"It has benefited its members."

"Hasn't the American Federation of Labor been a great factor in raising our standard of living?"

"I am no economist."

Praises A. F. of L.

"Don't the great business concerns of the country generally recognize that improvement has come from the organization of labor?"

"Not all. The United States Steel Corporation has not recognized it."

"Don't you know," asked Senator Gooding, "that the American Federation of Labor is making a splendid fight against Bolshevism in this country. Samuel Gompers and John L. Lewis have done a great work for the preservation of our government. The labor men of this country will take care of our government. The great organizations of wealth will not take care of it."

ADMITS HYMN BAN UNPRECEDENTED

INDIANA, Pa., Feb. 27.—Judge J. N. Langham, president judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Indiana county, admitted last night, on being quizzed by the Senate committee investigating the coal strike, that he knew of no precedent for some of the clauses in his famous injunction restraining the strikers from any kind of picketing, from advertising in newspapers and from congregating on the Presbyterian Church property at Rossiter and singing hymns.

He defended the injunction by saying that it was intended only as a temporary measure, but admitted it had been in force for six months and still applies. He said the strikers had been offered an opportunity to answer the complaints, supported by affidavits, on which the injunction was based, but had not availed themselves of it, and, in his opinion, did not want a hearing. Once, he said, they asked for a hearing, but a postponement was requested. He denied that he was financially interested in the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation, to which the injunction was granted. He said he owned shares in several coal companies, but that they were in no way affected by the strike.

Judge Langham said the hymns which he restrained the strikers from singing were parodies of a provocative nature, directed at the strikebreakers as they passed the church. As an example, he said, they sang "We'll Get You, By and By." He told the senators that he had received a request from the strikers for money to buy hymn books and had sent them a check to purchase two dozen.

Question Jurist.

Senator Wheeler asked Judge Langham:

"Don't the courts of Pennsylvania recognize the right of peaceful picketing?"

"Yes," said Judge Langham, "but it's hard to tell what that is."

"Most courts allow peaceful persuasion," said Wheeler. "Not many courts in the United States today have prevented picketing of any kind."

"By enjoining the strikers against marching, parading and picketing," said Senator Wagner, himself a former justice of the New York Supreme Court, "you prevent nearly everything, don't you?"

"That's to prevent interference with men on their way to work," answered Judge Langham.

"Don't you think," asked Wheeler, "a striker should have the right to say to a man on the road that there is a strike, and to request him not to work?"

"Yes."

"But you restrain him from doing that," said Wagner. "If he did he would be liable for contempt of court."

"That's in the breast of the court," said Judge Langham, "how he would handle that case. We wanted to prevent the intercepting of men going to work.

gar at Lakehurst, N. J., at 6:55 a. m. Sunday morning, Com. Rosendahl was not certain whether he would try to make Panama or not. If things went well, he advised the Navy, he might steer for Panama, or he might divert and moor the big ship to the naval tender Patoka, now at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, where the fleet is conducting winter gunnery exercises.

The ship, however, performed so well on the long voyage down the Atlantic coast and over Florida that Rosendahl elected to go on to Panama, 2,200 miles from Lakehurst.

COLON, Feb. 27.—An enthusiastic reception was arranged here for the United States Navy dirigible Los Angeles, which is due late today after a 2,200-mile non-stop flight from Lakehurst, N. J.

The enthusiasm of the United States military authorities and the civilian population recalled the arrival of Col. Lindbergh on his Latin-American good-will flight.

Completion of the voyage would mark the first non-stop flight by a dirigible from the New York district to the Panama Canal Zone.

LINDY'S PARTY HAS MOTOR

York on a pleasure jaunt and that they positively would have nothing to do with production of the startling invention, it was learned they had brought the motor here for that sole purpose.

Today it will be taken to the Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics. Later it probably will be sent to New York University Aeronautic School.

In addition to denials of Lindbergh and his companions that their trip was connected with any business venture, Henry Breckenridge, Lindbergh's personal attorney, had strenuously denied he would file incorporation papers for such an enterprise.

Maj. Lanphier, informed of a report the motor was in New York, replied:

"That is all wet. It is not here. We don't know when it will be here. I just came over with some other fellows on a pleasure trip. Don't believe anything about our interest in the electro-motor."

Told that it was known the motor was here with the party, he said:

"We are not ready to talk about it yet. When we are is our own business. And we won't talk about it now."

Lester Hendershot, 29-year-old designer of the revolutionary engine, will arrive in New York Tuesday to continue negotiations with Lanphier, Lindbergh and the Guggenheim representatives.

That the motor, reported as obtaining current from the earth, operates in a distinctly different manner, is a fact Hendershot disclosed to Universal Service.

The young engineer said:

"The machine does not gather energy from the air. It is an enlarged magneto, one might say. As the whirling armature passes the magnetic poles of the magnet, current enters the end of the armature wrapping. It goes in so fast, travels so far, that when it comes out to be expended it has increased tremendously in voltage.

"The engine actually makes its own electricity! There is a magnet in the core of the armature which acts as a starter. From that point on it generates its own power.

"The magnet will not wear out under 2,000 hours, nearer 3,000.

"And contrary to reports already circulated, the model is not the size of a vacuum cleaner motor. It is 28 inches in diameter and 62 inches long. It weighs 130 pounds. It has developed 45 horsepower at 1,800 revolutions a minute, the average speed of internal combustion motors.

"I have run the motor more than 2,000 hours.

"The 62-inch length of the motor includes the 8 or 10 inches required for the propeller."

EXPLAINS MOTOR

Lester J. Hendershot, youthful inventor of the fuelless motor that recently was tested in Detroit by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, the latter flight commander of Selfridge Field, Detroit, yesterday described his invention in his home in West Elizabeth. He denied that his power was obtained out of the air, on a principle similar to radio, and declared that the same force that turns the needle of a compass and points it north was the force that operated his motor.

Mr. Hendershot is but 29 years old. He returned home yesterday from Detroit after having the motor inspected by Lindbergh, who is representing the Guggenheim Foundation for the Advancement of Aeronautics. He said that there was nothing mysterious about his invention and said that it would not supply heat or light, bring a motor and nothing else.

"During early experiments," Mr. Hendershot said, "I learned that the ultimate development of aviation depended upon a true reliable compass. The ordinary compass does not point to the true north but varies to a different extent at almost every point on the earth's surface. The other compass, the magnetic induction compass that indicates the true north, must always be set before each flight and it is not always reliable.

"I found that with a pre-magnetized core I could set up a magnetized field that would indicate the true north and in continuing my tests I found that by cutting the same line of magnetic force north and south I had an indicator of the true north, and that by cutting the magnetic field east and west I could develop a rotary motion. I have now a motor built on that principal, one that will rotate at a constant speed, a speed predetermined when the motor is built. It can be built for any desired speed and a reliable constant speed motor is one of the greatest needs of aviation."

Name Yohe To N. Y. C. Post

Curtis M. Yohe, 40, of 6665 Tinsmore road, purchasing agent of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, has been appointed assistant to the president of the New York Central Lines, Patrick A. Crowley, it was made known today by railroad officials.

Mr. Yohe's appointment will be effective March 1, with headquarters in Pittsburgh. Mr. Yohe in his new capacity will be the first systems lines officer of the New York Central ever to have headquarters in Pittsburgh. His appointment as direct representative of the president here, Mr. Yohe says, is in accordance with an effort to bring Pittsburgh shippers in closer contact with systems heads in New York.

Mr. Yohe is a son of J. B. Yohe, vice president of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie.

URGES WOMEN WAR ON DOPE

ROCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 27.—American women and their organizations have it in their power to drive the dope rings out of business and save coming generations from the terrors of the drug habit, in the view of a woman here who has seen hundreds of cases of drug addiction.

She is Mrs. Mary R. Hamilton, matron of the Rochester General Hospital and a registered pharmacist who for many years has been familiar with the efforts of dope peddlers to dispose of their wares as well as the frantic struggles of addicts to buy narcotics. In an interview today she declared that the united efforts of women could accomplish more than any other agency in abolishing dope traffic.

"Let every women's club in every community in the country get to work," said Mrs. Hamilton. "Let them get the facts and sift out the fairy stories. They would have abundant help in getting inside information and it would not be difficult to find those officeholders and political leaders who wink at those who violate the law and enable the drug peddlers to obtain their vile stuff. The trouble is in the high places where men in their race for the dollar do not hesitate to blast lives of their fellowmen.

"In working for their cause women will not only be doing a patriotic service for their country and for humanity in general but in many instances they will be protecting their own sons and daughters. Carried on as a community undertaking, the entire country would be closely combed and safeguarded. Let women's clubs check up on the schools—and they need checking up. Let them scrutinize the practices of local druggists. Watch closely the associations of all known addicts. And, most important of all, let them put to the acid test every man they elect to public office."

SPEAKING OF SIZE—

THEY HAVE "IT"

Size makes a difference—or no difference—depending on circumstances. Take the case of John Creech and Miss Grace Carlyle. They appeared at the city hall, San Francisco, to file application for a marriage license. Creech, known as "The Oklahoma Giant," measures seven feet nine inches, from heel to hair. Miss Carlyle, while only five feet six inches tall, weighs 654 pounds. Creech weighs only 175 pounds. Grant L. "Cupid" Munson, with book, five feet three inches tall, made out the necessary papers. Superior Judge Louis H. Ward, smallest Superior judge in California—he's only five feet six inches—will perform the ceremony.

TEACHER LOSES RACE TO MOTHER'S BEDSIDE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 27.—Miss Mary Loomis, local teacher, lost a race with death by two hours and a half yesterday when summoned home by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Fordyce Loomis, 90, Columbus, Ill., with pneumonia, who died at 1:30, when her daughter boarded a Pennsylvania train at Dennison for her bedside.

FOR QUICK AID HE LIKES SUN-TELE

Supt. John Black, of the county morgue, is going to use The Sun-Telegraph if he wants quick advertising results. He says so.

The Sunday Sun-Telegraph told of Black's anxiety to rid the morgue of three mysterious wire cages, dropped from a truck near the morgue. He was tired of answering questions as to what they might be used for, he said.

Today Walter Miller, 473 Elmer street, Pitcairn, driver for the Turtle Creek Valley Express, and his assistant, D. H. Brown, of Greensburg avenue, East McKeesport, claimed the cages. They had dropped from an express truck while being transported from a Diamond street shop to the new Moose temple, Electric avenue, East McKeesport, and were to be used along with nine other similar cages as light guards in the gymnasium. Miller had been notified of their finding by Louis Grimm, of the Crafton-Sheraden Express Company, who read the item after having heard of the loss of the cages by his fellow-expressmen.

train to Chicago, and there took passage on the plane. The crash occurred after a mail stop had been made at Omaha, Neb.

Mr. Craig left here Friday night for Los Angeles on a business trip and, missing connections in Chicago, took passage on an air mail plane to overtake the train. The plane, piloted by Frank Yeager, of Cheyenne, Wyo., crashed into a grove of trees and caught fire after leaving Omaha, Neb. Yeager was seriously burned.

Mr. Craig owned an airplane in Florida about five years ago. "Jimmy" Morris, father of Capt. Jack Morris, of Pittsburgh, was killed while making a flight in it over Georgia.

President of the Treadwell Construction Company and the Midland Barge Company, both at Midland, Mr. Craig also had other business interests. He was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 219, F. & M., the Pittsburgh Consistory and Syria Temple, and the Duquesne Club, University Club, Cornell Club, Pittsburgh; the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Beaver, the Beaver Valley Country Club and the Fort McIntosh Club.

Mr. Craig leaves his widow, Mrs. Ruth Walker Craig; two sons, John and Samuel, and a daughter, Ruth, all at home, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Craig, of 356 South Aiken avenue, Pittsburgh, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Craig Succop, of 6030 Castleman street, Pittsburgh.

TORCH KILLER'S NEW NOTE HINTS SUICIDE

Senators Compile Report

2 GOING TO MEET LINER IN PLANE FEARED LOST

STENOGRAPHIC REPORT MADE

Stenographic notes are being made of the Senate sub-committee's findings in the coal fields. A complete report will be made to the full committee in Washington next week. Senator Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, chairman of the sub-committee, is shown dictating part of the report to George L. Hart, official stenographer.

COMMITTEE GOES INTO MINE

Members of the strike investigation committee donned mining togs and went into the Warden mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company Saturday. The senators saw many interesting things about the mining of coal. In the front car are Senators W. B. Pine, of Oklahoma, Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, and Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, chairman, together with officials of the mine.

HEAR BOTH SIDES IN CONTROVERSY

The senators heard testimony on both sides in the controversy between coal operator and labor. They visited many mining camps in and around Pittsburgh, leaving yesterday afternoon for Indiana. They are in the Central Pennsylvania field today, taking in important mines at Indiana and Johnstown.

HINT TORCH KILLER'S SUICIDE

By Universal Service.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 27.—A second confessional letter, written, police believe, by the hand that applied the torch to Margaret Brown's gasoline-soaked body on the Morristown-Bernardsville pike in Somerset county, N. J., revealed today that "others" may be forcing the murderer to suicide.

It was an amazing letter, no less than the first, and printed carefully in the same characters as the one in which the slayer returned two $1,000 bonds and a $500 bill filched from the effects of the slain governess.

REPEATS SUICIDE THREAT

It reiterated the writer's intention to kill himself, "to protect the others," he wrote. From the tone of the letter and that reference, police are of the opinion that at least one of the "others" is a woman and that she may have forced the return of the money and the man's confession, with suicide or surrender the alternatives of expiation given him.

There is a belief among officials that if the slayer does not kill himself, he will be exposed and perhaps given into hands of authorities.

The exact contents of the letter could not be learned. It was received Saturday in the office in Somerville of Prosecutor Francis L. Bergen, and had been mailed Friday in Newark, whence came the first letter. That much is known. Mr. Bergen, however, denied he had received any such letter, but indicated, in answer to other questions, that the denial was part of his policy in withholding facts he thinks he may use if there is a trial.

The letter was printed on plain note-paper and was mailed in a stamped envelope. They are of the kind that might be obtained from a drug store slot-machine.

DOG TALKS BASS

BOULDERWALL

A mouse-colored Great Dane talks with more or less fluency and makes no bones about the matter. According to her master's mother, Mrs. J. Stuart Tompkins, of 101 West Eighty-fifth street, Manhattan borough, N. Y. Boulderwall does even better than Princess Jacqueline, a French bulldog of Boston, who got her name in the papers when she kidded the reporters that interviewed her. Boulderwall, following the lead of Mrs. Tompkins, in a rich bass voice, said "How do you do?" "Thank you," "I won't," and "I want to go out." The dog began to talk when she was but an infant. First she whimpered, then she started to enunciate. "Water" is said to be the first word the loquacious puppy learned to speak.

FEAR TWO FLIERS LOST

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—A flight in the freezing cold of Saturday afternoon by a pilot and a passenger who wanted to meet an incoming liner and wave a greeting to a woman passenger, today was believed to have added two more names to the list of fliers lost at sea.

The two missing men are Walter Hendricks, 27, of New Gardens, Long Island, a professional pilot, and the passenger is believed to be Dave Staggert whose address is unknown.

They took off from Curtiss Field, Long Island, Saturday afternoon with a four-hour gasoline supply and nothing has been heard of them since. Search by air and water failed to bring any trace of them or their plane.

Hendricks' fellow aviators feared the plane, which was not equipped for landing on water, had been forced down with a frozen engine. It would not have remained long afloat and the only hope was that the flier had landed near some small ship which did not have a radio.

The missing passenger visited several hangars at Curtiss Field Saturday afternoon and attempted to hire a plane and pilot. He said he wanted to fly out to meet an incoming liner to wave the first greeting to a girl returning on a boat from Europe. All the regular airplane operators shook their heads and advised against making a flight that day.

He finally approached Hendricks, who does not have a plane, and got his consent to attempt the flight. Hendricks secured the loan of a Waco biplane from Frederick H. Brohan, of Queens, whom he had been teaching to fly, on the plea that he had a chance to "pick up a little change."

SMOKE FORCES TWO FROM APARTMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tyler were forced from their apartment on the third floor of a building at 5819 Bryant street early today, when fire in the basement filled their quarters with smoke. The first floor is occupied by a tailor shop conducted by Tyler. It is believed the furnace became overheated. The damage was slight.

SUSPECT NABBED IN ATTACK ON BUTCHER

Accused of striking Frank Babinger, 40, a butcher of Pine Hollow road, Stowe township, on the head with a meat cleaver Saturday and with taking $18 out of the cash register in the store, Arthur Pickens, 28, of McKees Rocks is being held by county detectives. Babinger is in the Ohio Valley Hospital in a serious condition.

MINERS DEMAND LEWIS QUIT

BELLAIRE, O., Feb. 27.—Resignation of John L. Lewis, international president of the miners' union and of Lee Hall, president of the Ohio district, was demanded by a vote of 250 striking miners here yesterday after John Brophy, of Pittsburgh, charged Lewis with "bungling" the strike situation.

The meeting was held under the watchful eyes of National Guardsmen, deputy sheriffs, deputy United States marshals and Bellaire police who were present to guard against "red" outbursts.

"The ills affecting the miners' union are directly due to the blunder of John L. Lewis," declared Brophy, himself a candidate against Lewis for president of the United Mine Workers several years ago and formerly president of District No. 2, Pennsylvania.

"More than 100,000 miners were forced out of their union when Lewis failed to get the operators in West Virginia and other non-union districts to sign the scale," said Brophy, comparing the strength of the miners' union today as with 1922.

"Call me by any name you wish, but I am heart and soul with the cause of the miners and I believe I am working for the best interests of the organization. I am not a Communist and I do not agree with the principles of the Workers' party.

"The fight to preserve the United Mine Workers is more important than all the reports circulated by coal operators and some of the union officials regarding me and my alleged connections with other organizations."

Brophy and Anthony Menerich, also of Pittsburgh, are here ostensibly in the interests of the Pennsylvania and Ohio Miners' Relief organization which operators charge is a blind for radical activities within the strikers' ranks.

TWO BURNED WHEN FIRE LEVELS HOME

William Pendelton, Jr., of Reymer avenue, Rosslyn Heights, and a 3-year-old daughter, were burned yesterday when their home was destroyed by fire, said to have been caused when the father poured gasoline in the kitchen stove to hurry a fire. The loss was estimated at $5,000. Three other members of the family were forced to flee. Seven hundred dollars which Pendelton had hidden in a pillow in the house was found intact in the ruins of the house. Carnegie firemen fought the fire.

MINE POLICE ATROCITIES BARED TO SENATORS

Probers Cheered

Musser told the committee that the entire output of the company is purchased by the New York Central Railroad. He said that the company had lived up to the Jacksonville agreement with the union until the last day and that, failing to agree with the union on "the Philadelphia scale" of $6, it had hired non-union men.

The investigators arrived here after a 35-mile auto ride from Indiana, traveling over poor roads, but cheered by delegations in various towns through which they passed.

Musser was interrogated in the company offices and then the committee moved over to the Magayr Presbyterian Church, from which union miners were banned in the Langham injunction.

Gov. Fisher at one time had been counsel and a director of the company, but had resigned when he was sworn in as Governor. The coal company pays $7.50 per day for deputy sheriffs to guard the mines and the men receive $6.50, which prompted Senator Wheeler to declare the dollar difference was "sheriff's graft."

Nearly a score of men and women in Indiana yesterday called upon the Senators to tell how they were set upon in various parts of the Pittsburgh district and several complaints were made about the coal company officers denying residents of mining communities the right to receive their mail at postoffices located in company stores.

One of the complainants was a postmaster—Walter J. Sansom of Smithdale. He told how he had been arrested on a trivial charge while on duty in the little country town postoffice and said he was compelled to close the office before the regular hour and accompany the coal and iron police to the office of a justice of the peace many miles away. The incident occurred on March 21, 1926, he said.

"I was standing on the platform at the Smithdale Railroad Station," Sansom related, "waiting for the mail train. One train pulled in and a detail of Pittsburgh Coal Company police got off with a number of strikebreakers. A crowd had gathered on a hillside overlooking the station and as the newcomers were marched down the platform towards the street, the crowd started yelling. I stood by watching the procession and, without a word of warning, one of the coal and iron cops started for me, shoving me backward with his arm and telling me to get off the platform. I told him I was the postmaster, but it made no difference. He continued to push me down into the street and still insisting that I start going somewhere.

"My wife had witnessed his actions and she ran down from the postoffice. She wanted to strike the policeman, but I restrained her and took her back to the postoffice. A little later, a coal and iron policeman entered the postoffice and demanded: 'Can you close this place up, or have you an assistant who can look after things for you?' I told him I had no assistant and he said: 'Well, close up now—you're under arrest! And I'm going to take you along with me.'

Arrested Wife Too

"My wife came in and he ordered her to come along and also placed my sister under arrest. Neither of the women had done anything except to intercede for me. My sister's husband complained about taking his wife and said that wherever she went he would go too. They didn't arrest him, but it 'didn't make any damn difference what he did, they were taking her along.'

"They took us to Scott Haven, first and then loaded us in an automobile and drove us to Castle Shannon where they lined us up before a union squire. I went bond for my wife and my sister and then the squire ordered my brother-in-law's arrest, so they placed a disorderly conduct charge against him. He hadn't said a word. I arranged bond for him, too, and told them to take me into jail that I wouldn't put up bond. The squire released me on my own recognizance, however, and we went back home, returning the next evening for a hearing.

"We stood around in the squire's office for a while, while the squire and a couple of the coal and iron police talked together in another room. They came out after awhile and the squire said, 'this case is over.'"

The senators heard Sansom's story without a question and when he had finished John Weis, proprietor of the general store, was called.

Weis told of going to the post office for his mail about 6:45 o'clock on the afternoon Sansom had told about.

"I went to the postoffice door and saw six or seven coal and iron police inside," he said. "One of the officers accosted me and demanded to know what I wanted. I told him I had come for my mail and was expecting some rather important letters on the evening train. He pushed me out into the street and told me to keep going.

"I am road commissioner in Smithdale, having been duly elected by the voters and I remained in the street.' He shoved me around and when I told him I thought I had a right to stand in the public highway I had been elected to look after, he only shoved me around more and insisted that I get off the highway or he would lock me up."

Beaten, Farmer Says

Orville L. Branthoover, a farmer of near Van Meter, told of having been beaten by coal and iron police and later bringing suit against them. The suit was settled by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, he said, and he did not have to go into court.

"I went into the postoffice in the company store at Van Meter," he related, "and was told to get out that I was trespassing. A coal and iron police proceeded to take me out and when I remonstrated he placed me under arrest. He took me to the police barracks and no sooner than he got me inside, he hit me with his blackjack. He handcuffed me so I couldn't fight back and beat me over the head and face and I bled profusely.

ATROCITIES BARED TO SENATORS

"I was bleeding from the nose and mouth and when I spit on the floor he threatened to beat me again.

"'What will I do? My mouth is full of blood,' I told him.

"'Swallow it, you——,' he said.

"I had a chew of tobacco in my mouth too and it was making me sick, so I asked if I couldn't spit it out the door.

"'No, you——,' he said to me, 'swallow that too.'

"I was taken before a squire on charges of disorderly conduct, trespassing and resisting an officer and released under $500 bail, but no record was ever made of the case, so I brought counter suit charging false arrest and they settled with me by paying the costs of my doctor bills and my attorney fees."

Barred from Postoffice

William Mattes, a mill worker of Bruceton, said he had been ordered out of the Bruceton Postoffice by a coal and iron policeman.

James Trescablish, also of Bruceton, said he had been threatened with bodily harm by Negro strikebreakers when he asked one of them to move away from his mail box in the Bruceton Postoffice so he could get his mail.

"You don't want mail, you want a crack in the jaw," he said the Negro told him.

D. A. Kennedy of Imperial, related a story of a fight he had with a coal and iron policeman who avowed he would bring in Kennedy dead or alive on orders of the superintendent of the Pittsburgh Coal Company mine.

"A stranger came to my cement block plant which I leased from the company and demanded that I give him a load of cinders. I refused and a coal and iron policeman came back with a truck, declaring he would bring me in 'dead or alive.'

Used Blackjacks.

"I heard him and started to get up from some work I was doing but before I could get off my knees, he had jumped me, striking me on the head with a blackjack. I fought to get hold of his revolver with which he struck me on the side of the face and finally succeeded. I threw it away and got him down on his back. While I held him I called to one of my men nearby to hand me the pick so 'I could cut his head off,' but the man refused and I tried to get it myself, I was so mad.

"While I reached for the pick, the coal and iron policeman got away and I grabbed the pick and started after him. Some men held me back and this officer then wanted to explain. He said that Supt. Pascoe told him to bring me in 'dead or alive.'"

"What about your arm?" asked one of Kennedy's friends present at the Senatorial hearing.

"Oh, yes, I forgot about that again. After this policeman left, I noticed something wrong with my arm and rolled up my sleeve. Look what he did," said the powerful Kennedy, showing a big scar on his right forearm. "He shot me and I didn't know it until after the fight."

Eleanor Puskar and Eunice Roadman, both of Imperial, told of being dragged from the public highway by coal and iron policemen and thrown into a barracks filled with men in various stages of dress and undress.

Miss Puskar said she had been ill and was walking outdoors on doctor's orders when she was taken into custody. "I hadn't done anything, but they arrested me and said I had called one of them a 'scab.'"

"I was taken to the office of Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan and held for court, but the case was thrown out by the grand jury. My arm was hurt by the policeman who dragged me into the barracks and I have a doctor's certificate to show for it."

Mrs. Mary Spurlock said she had been mistreated by a coal and iron policeman who drove her to Vestaburg from Avella to see her sick brother and after bringing her back to Avella her husband was fired without pay and they were orced to walk from Avella to Pittsburgh.

Tried to Kiss Her.

"On the way back from Vestaburg, the officer stopped the car at a lonely spot along the road and held me in his arms while he tried to kiss me."

Mrs. Spurlock's lip quivered as she tried to continue. Her voice choked and she wept softly. After a bit she continued:

"I protested and told him if he didn't take me back to Avella, I would get out and walk. He only continued his insults and I was unable to do a thing. After awhile he did take me back home, however, and the next day my husband was fired."

The mistreatment of Mrs. Spurlock occurred on February 19 of this year, she said.

ADMITS HYMN BAN

and that is prevented by prohibiting this picketing.'

"Don't you think," asked Wagner, "that that is interference with freedom of speech?"

"Oh, I don't think so."

"Isn't it generally felt," asked Wagner, "that the press should be open to those who want to present their claims to win public opinion? By your injunction you restrain these men from inserting any advertisement in a newspaper."

"If it prevents the employment of a man who wants to go to work," answered Judge Langham, "I think it's all right."

"Haven't I as much right," asked Senator Wheeler, "to advertise that a strike is on in a mining company as for the mining company to advertise that it wants men to go to work?"

"That sounds reasonable," answered Judge Langham.

"Isn't it as fair for one side as for the other?"

"Oh, I suppose so."

"Do you recall," asked Senator Wagner, "any case in which a defendant was restrained from advertising in newspapers?"

Judge Langham admitted that he did not.

"Then, in that respect, the injunction is novel."

"It may be. I wish they would ask for a hearing."

"Frankly, Judge," said Senator Wagner, "I have been told they have been pressing for a hearing and have been unable to get one."

"They did not," answered Judge Langham.

"How have conditions been around here," asked Wheeler. "Pretty peaceable?"

Quiet Prevails.

"Yes, fairly so," said Judge Langham, "since the injunction was issued."

"You put the fear of God in them," commented Senator Wagner.

After Judge Langham was excused James Mark, president of District No. 2 of the United Mine Workers, and B. A. Sciotto, their attorney, appeared before the committee, and stated that they had made repeated efforts to obtain a hearing on the injunction, but were always put off for one reason or another.

Delegations of strikers and operators called upon the committee with invitations to visit various camps.

The senators will visit Rossiter today and, if time permits, will also go to the mines of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company at Clymer and Commodore, and the Arcadia mine of the Rembrandt-Peale interests.

Indoor job no handicap; anyone can keep fit

Ambitious clerk finds way to beat the game

"EASY", HE SAYS

"I WORK in an office. That means that I've got a raft of details on my mind. And I've got to be right up to scratch every moment. You know how hard-boiled the chief can be if I can't dig up the right data at just the right moment. Hard work—long hours—a good deal on my feet.

"And yet I manage to be full of pep. What's more, I've got a real interest in my job—looking ahead, you know, to a little niche at the top for yours truly. I've just got to keep fit.

"How do I do it? I can't take time for golf. But I do take Nujol. And Nujol takes care of me."

Nujol is just a natural substance containing no drugs or medicine. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). It keeps the body functioning as nature meant it to, even under abnormal sedentary conditions. It not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

Follow this advice and take Nujol regularly. You'll be amazed to find how much more energetic and efficient you will feel—and be. Take it steadily for three months and watch your improvement. It can't do you any harm, certainly, and might do you a lot of good.

Be sure you get the genuine.

French Room Gowns for Afternoon or Evening Wear

Shades That Start With Navy and Brighten Into More Brilliant Hues

With spring days a certainty, spring frocks are foremost in madame's thoughts. The French Room, where Gimbels display gowns of unquestionable appropriateness for afternoon and evening occasions, meets Spring days with airy chiffons for formal afternoon functions, embroidered georgettes or georgettes with lace, the sheer crepe Elizabeth, the heavier crepes Joli and Canton, and satin.

Black and navy, as unfailingly popular as ever, and gay hues of rose, tans, blues and gray are the backgrounds for tucks, pleatings, flares and laces.

Evening frocks of satin, chiffon, Elizabeth and beaded georgette repeat the pastel tints of coral, orchid, yellow peach and wild rose. Rhinestones for glitter and fringe for grace definitely mark them for evening wear. Sizes 34 to 44.

The Plays — Stage and Screen — And Players
THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Another War Story to Furnish Theme For First National Film Starring Richard Barthelmess

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.

THE most inexhaustible theme in the movies is the World War. I don't believe there is any angle of this recent conflict that hasn't been screened. One would think the scenario writers' skill would be taxed to the utmost to try to get something different. That is one reason all the best writers in filmland have been recruited when there is a war drama in the offing. Bess Meredyth, for instance, has been commissioned by First National to write the adaptation of "Out of the Ruins."

This "Out of the Ruins," powerfully written for the Cosmopolitan Magazine by Sir Phillip Gibbs, will star Richard Barthelmess. It is his next picture and one that is to be produced with the background of war. There should be something else, too, for Sir Phillip Gibbs does not confine his story to booming cannons and trench battles.

Lois Moran, of whom we have seen or heard nothing these last few months, is about to begin work on "Don't Marry," under the direction of James Tinling. "Don't Marry" is the very comedy that caused a parting of the ways between Dr. Ludwig Berger and Winfield Sheehan, Dr. Berger maintaining that he could not do justice to this and Mr. Sheehan equally determined that it had excellent comedy possibilities.

Miss Moran is being surrounded by a good cast. Neil Hamilton has been signed to play opposite her and Henry Kolker and Claire McDowell will do important roles.

The Charlie Rays left Hollywood four months ago with the avowed purpose of going East and conquering Broadway. I don't know just how far they succeeded. I do know Charlie Ray managed to get a play called "Yen" produced in New York, which, you will admit, is some feat with the thousands of eager actors and playwrights storming the agents' offices. Now that Charlie has achieved his heart's desire, he is turning his eyes back towards Hollywood. In brief, he and Helen Twelvetree, the actress, who has the principal role opposite Charlie, will reach here in about eight weeks to open "Yen" for Hollywood's approval.

There will be no trouble for Edmund Lowe to keep an eye on Lilyan Tashman these next few weeks, or vice versa. Lilyan has been signed by Edmund Goulding to do her worst in Colleen Moore's next picture, "Tomorrow." Lowe, Lilyan's husband, plays opposite Colleen. Lilyan never seems out of a job very long. She is one of the blonde vamps who is constantly in demand. Phyllis Haver is another. Only a few years ago there were no blonde home-wreckers. All the wickedness was done by the brunets. Can it be possible they are giving the blondes a break, or shall I say the brunets?

STANLEY OPENS TONIGHT

The Stanley swings open its doors tonight. Beginning at 8:30 o'clock, there will be presented the initial program of the new theater, the bill including the picture version of the Anita Loos satire, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," on the screen, and the Anatole Friedland Revue, on the stage.

The new 1928 edition of "Greenwich Village Follies" opens in the Alvin tonight, when it will begin a week's stay in Pittsburgh.

The second and last week of the engagement of Lenore Ulrich in "Lulu Belle" will open in the Nixon this evening.

The success of "Broadway," which begins its second week in the Pitt tonight, is indicated by its gross receipts in the first 87 weeks in the Broadhurst Theater, New York, $1,002,074.50. This record is said to be unequaled by any dramatic show in history.

Beginning Monday night, March 5, patrons of the Nixon will have the opportunity of witnessing George C. Tyler's all-star revival of Victorien Sardou's "Diplomacy."

Katharine Cornell comes to the Alvin for one week, beginning Monday night, March 5, in W. Somerset Maugham's drama, "The Letter."

Marion Sunshine, singing comedienne, features the Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis this week, appearing in a skit, "Just a Chorus Girl."

JOHNNY JONES DANCE IN BARTH'S TONIGHT

The first week of our closing out sale was a success beyond our expectations. The folks of Pittsburgh and vicinity sensed the buying opportunity that this sale presented.
We have many instruments still on hand that will meet your artistic and price requirements. Our suggestion is that you come in at once and make your selection. We are anxious that you should realize that this is merely the closing out of our Pittsburgh store and not our retirement from the manufacturing field, in which we have occupied a position of prominence for eighty-five years.
This sale includes used instruments that have been thoroughly reconditioned and have many years of life; some are absolutely new, and others have simply been used for demonstration purposes.

Just stop to think what a wonderful thing it is to be able to buy a Grand Piano, Player Piano or Upright Piano for cost or below cost. It isn't any wonder, when you know the Piano business like we do, that our competitors are accusing us of GIVING PIANOS AWAY. It is true we are coming very close to it, but when you stop to think that we are conducting a sale here different than any sale that has ever been conducted in the City of Pittsburgh, then it is not a hard thing to figure out. If we were operating this sale and calling it a CLEARANCE SALE, or a JUNE SALE, or FALL SALE, or a REMOVAL SALE in order to increase our lease balance and show a larger profit for the year of 1928, it would be different. But when you stop to think that we are operating the sale for the main purpose of disposing of each and every one of the dozens of fine pianos that we have in stock, regardless of what we are going to lose so that we may withdraw from the retail field in Pittsburgh, THEN WE BELIEVE YOU WILL REALIZE THIS IS THE OPPORTUNE TIME FOR YOU TO BUY YOUR PIANO.

If you doubt our prices, or if you think when you visit our store that you will be put into the hands of some smooth, clever salesman and in turn he will try to lead you to a higher priced piano or refuse to sell you the instrument that you came in to see, then we are extending you an invitation to visit our salesrooms, which are located at 819 Liberty Ave.

SENATE PROBERS SHOCKED AT MINE CAMP MISERY

shocking, that they considered its treatment of the strikers cruel and inhuman. They admonished the operators, through Baker, that in seeking to crush the union they were pursuing a course dangerous to the welfare of the entire country. They said it was impossible for people to live decently on the wages that the company was now paying.

They made it plain that they thought the Pittsburgh Coal Company had broken a pledge, at least morally binding, in repudiating the Jacksonville agreement to pay the miners $7.50 a day, and complimented the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation on having kept faith with the miners up to the expiration of the contract.

It was Senator Frank R. Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the committee and its spokesman, who expressed its opinions, but the other members—Senators Robert F. Wagner of New York, Burton K. Wheeler of Montana and W. B. Pine of Oklahoma—indicated by occasional remarks and questions that they acquiesced.

The hearings began at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued almost up to 4 o'clock, when the committee left in automobiles for Indiana, Pa., where they spent the night. They are investigating conditions at Rossiter and other mining camps in Indiana and Cambria counties today. It is at Rossiter, a camp of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation, a New York Central Railroad subsidiary, of which Gov. John S. Fisher formerly was vice president, that the strikers have been enjoined by Judge J. N. Langham, in an injunction that has attracted widespread attention, not to congregate on the Presbyterian Church property and sing.

Defends Mine Police.

Baker was the first person to be given a hearing yesterday. He said that in view of the reports of brutalities and usurpation of power by the coal and iron police, he felt it was his duty to state that the Pittsburgh Terminal's guards were "a pretty decent, law-abiding lot." Mr. Baker said that he was a lawyer and had tried to guide them in obedience to the law, telling them what they could do and what they could not do. He said he had made a real endeavor to get men of the right caliber. He had tested them and looked into their antecedents. Many of the coal and iron police, he said, were former state troopers, who resigned in order to marry, because none but unmarried men are employed as state police.

"When Miss Fannie Hurst came to my office to inquire about our police," said Baker, "I told her, and I repeat to you, that they are just policemen, and perhaps do not have as much discretion as men occupying higher positions. In isolated cases they have done things I wish they hadn't done. But a strike is not a pink tea. It's battle, and there is bound to be friction.

"At the outset we employed only a few coal and iron police, but gradually increased them. We have 40 of them now at our seven mines. Right after the first of the year things boiled over. We were attacked at every point. We put on 15 more men and things quieted down."

Senator Gooding asked Baker to tell of the attacks.

The coal company president then described the beating of the non-union miners, especially at Bethel Stop, where he said they were waylaid and manhandled when they got off a street car early in the morning to go to work.

Tells of Attacks.

Vice President G. F. Osler supplemented Baker's testimony later in the course of the hearing, and gave numerous specific instances in which strikebreakers had been slugged and shot. Baker said that many of the strikebreakers were Negroes from the Hill district in Pittsburgh, and that before the eviction of the strikers from the company houses it was necessary to transport them between their homes and the mines. Osler added that at first automobiles were used, but the machines were stoned so frequently that the taxicab companies from whom the cars were hired finally refused to permit them to be used for the hauling of strikebreakers. The company then got its own automobiles, but when they were left standing in the vicinity of the camps the tires would be found punctured.

Baker said that he believed the assailants of the strikebreakers were mostly the company's former employes, but he regarded it as not improbable that some of the thugs were criminals who were masquerading as union men for the purpose of robbery.

"A strike is a new thing to me," said Baker, "and all this violence is perfectly terrible to me."

Senator Wheeler asked Baker if the company employed Pinkerton or Burns detectives. Osler answered that one Burns man had been engaged between April and October last year to catch men who were destroying the company's machinery, and Baker said he had hired one Pinkerton man to do some work that Osler did not know about. The company, Baker added, employed six or eight deputy sheriffs for a while, but had had none since last November.

"These attacks on our workers come in bunches," said Baker. "There will be an uprising and then things will quiet down."

"Did it ever occur to you," asked Senator Wheeler, "that the detectives and company police, in order to hold their jobs, might go out and perpetrate crimes themselves?"

"I was warned against that," answered Baker, "and it had occurred to me. I have tried to guard against it. I said to Mr. Osler: 'Let us get to the bottom of every case, and see if our men are responsible.' I have investigated every case, and can say that in few instances were our men to blame for anything that occurred."

There was some testimony concerning Justice of the Peace J. M. O'Rourke of Broughton, who has been charged by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation with various crimes against its workers.

"One of Osler's men," said Senator Wheeler, "made the remark that O'Rourke ought to be bound and thrown over the trestle."

"It was an unwise thing to say," said Baker, "regardless of what he may have thought."

"It was an unwise thing to think," was Senator Wheeler's comment.

Defends Strikebreakers.

The questioning turned to the character of the men employed as strikebreakers.

"They are as decent and hard-working a set of men," said Baker, "as ever worked in a coal mine. They are not a lot of bums."

"Do you ever visit your camps?" asked Senator Wagner.

"Yes, about once a week, and eat in their dining room. The food is very good."

"You wouldn't say," asked Wheeler, "that those bunkhouses, as you maintain them, are conducive to good work, good morals, or good health?"

"I won't express an opinion," said Baker. "I have been interested in social work, and know something about social conditions. Our bunkhouses are warm, the food that we give our men is good; but I will not say that our bunkhouses are the best that could be had."

"Have you ever seen men live under worse conditions," asked Senator Wagner, "than in those particular bunkhouses?"

"They get good food and are kept warm," said Baker. "I think they are contented."

"They told us otherwise," said Wheeler.

"Every member of the committee," said Chairman Gooding, "was shocked by the conditions."

"I am surprised that you were," said Baker.

Conditions 'Shocking.'

"The committee is surprised," retorted Gooding, "that you are surprised that the committee is shocked. We feel that conditions at your camps are terrible."

"Your men told us," said Wheeler, "of prostitution and bootlegging. One white boy told us the bunkhouses are lousy. I don't think you know about it. Often these things go on without the office man being present. Yet he is responsible."

"I heard that a certain house number was mentioned," said Baker, "as the address of a disreputable establishment. A woman with seven or eight children lives there. Her husband, a former union man, is a mental case at Marshalsea. They told me she was peddling booze to our men and was a bad person. I said to one of our men to get in touch with the social agencies and get her off the premises, but they didn't do so. This woman and her family are a menace. I wanted to get her off our property, but I thought the humane thing to do was not to throw them out."

"I think," said Senator Wheeler, "that the charitable thing to do would have been to have the children put somewhere where they would get the right bringing up. It was not a kind thing to let this woman sell booze and conduct a bawdy house."

"I visited Prohibition Administrator Pennington about bootlegging at our camps. I admit there is bootlegging, but it goes on everywhere. If we could only find some way to get rid of this terrible poisonous liquor! Frankly, I don't know what to do about it."

"You can control housing," suggested Senator Wagner.

"Yes."

"How about ventilation?"

Osler replied that there was a law requiring a certain number of cubic feet of air for every occupant of a bunkhouse, and that the company obeyed it. He stated that the State Board of Health had inspected the property.

"We senators," said Wagner, "heard that the State Health Department had been out there, but we went into one house so foul that we could not stay three seconds."

"I lived in mining camps for 25 years," said Senator Wheeler, "and never before saw anything so terrible, I'll admit, though, that the dining room was clean."

"Conditions were shocking," added Senator Gooding.

"I am sorry that I did not go with you," said Baker, "but I was unwilling to go in the company of the officers of the United Mine Workers."

"Murray alone went," said Wheeler, "and made no suggestions. Your superintendent was our guide."

Disowns Unions.

The testimony next veered to the efficiency of union men, as compared with that of strikebreakers. Baker admitted that the former employes were more efficient. Then came his declaration that the company would have no further dealings with the union. The company, he said, would run its mines "open shop," because "it gives the company a chance to meet competition, a chance to experiment, a chance to put in new mechanical devices."

"I believe," said Baker, "that the 'open shop' system is better for the men as well as for the company."

It was then that Senator Gooding warned the operators, as reported in another article in this issue, not to crush the union, which stood as a bulwark between the American people and criminal labor organizations which seek to destroy the republic.

Shortly afterward Gooding remarked that men could not live decently on the wages that the company is paying, as disclosed by the committee's examination of the payrolls.

"Many are making as much as before the strike," said Baker. "They are making $10 or $12 a day mining coal, and are getting a good living."

"How many days in the year can they make that much?" he was asked.

"They can do it 296 days a year, the number of days we operated in 1926."

"Weren't you preparing for this contingency," asked Wheeler, "when you operated 296 days?"

Baker answered in the negative. He said the company ran practically all the time, as it had a good sales organization.

Discuss Coal Market.

This led to a great deal of testimony concerning the company's markets and methods of selling. It sells its coal through the North American Coal Corporation, of which F. E. Taplin, a heavy stockholder in the Pittsburgh Terminal, is president. The North American is also the selling agency for Pocahontas Coal, Island Creek Coal and other companies. Baker was asked what commission his company paid the North American. He said he was unwilling to answer, but would present the information if summoned to Washington under subpena.

Returning to conditions at the camps, the committee got Baker to admit that the company had cut off the water and the electric light at some of the strikers' homes, and taken the roofs off their houses, on the pretext of adding another story, "to make them uncomfortable, so they would get out."

"They were trying to harass us," said Baker. "The United Mine Workers tried to harass us by getting the milk companies to sell no milk to our employes."

"Two wrongs do not make a right," said Wheeler.

"You have to fight fire with fire," retorted Osler.

"What is your human reaction?" asked Senator Wagner. "Did it not occur to you that there were children in the families that you were trying to make uncomfortable? Didn't you think of what would happen to those children?"

"It was not a matter of shelter," said Osler. "We offered to move some of these people at our expense, and they wouldn't move."

bill and help to put it through Congress?

Why wouldn't that be a step and a great step forward in what must necessarily soon be an organized, practical, common sense, humane and civilized fight to drive the narcotic menace out of this country—and keep it out ing and know that all the "dope" peddlers and all the addicts who were caught anywhere, anyhow, any time, were going to be put somewhere where they could get humane and kindly treatment and where they could not infect other people with their horrifying disease?

The criminal "dope" addict is many times the carrier of more than "dope" addiction.

Drive It Out!

A typical addict who is far advanced in his addiction becomes careless, unclean, unhygienic in every way.

He carries the flu, and he carries diphtheria and he carries typhoid—why not cut off that source of infection and keep it out?

The Porter bill for two Federal narcotic farms—why shouldn't every man, woman and child in the United States of America, get behind that

When the Thermometer Takes a Dive

It's Great to Live In a Gas Heated Home!

YOU can laugh right in Old Man Winter's face and dare him to do his darndest . . . if there's a good gas-fired boiler or a good gas burning warm air furnace in your cellar.

And he can't laugh back at you later for you won't be coughing, puffing and sneezing . . . because there'll be no ashes to carry out.

There's a lot of other advantages, too. Uniformly controlled heat regardless of outside weather. Economical consumption of fuel at all times . . . just enough and no more than necessary to keep the house healthfully comfortable. No money tied up in fuel supply either. You don't pay for gas until after you have used it.

How Much Does it Cost?

Our Heating Department will supply you with a free estimate on heating your home with gas. You'll find it a lot cheaper than oil, safer, cleaner and silent and odorless, too. You'll find it comparing favorably with coke and in the long run the cheapest heat of all, considering the big returns in satisfaction, convenience and more healthful living conditions.

A telephone call to the Heating Department will bring a man to give you gas heat facts applied to your home.

WORK ON STEAM STATION PLAN

Plans for a $2,000,000 steam producing station at Twelfth and Etna streets, Second Ward, are being drawn for the Allegheny Steam Heating Company. An old building on the site is being torn down, and the completion of the new plant is scheduled for November 15.

The new station will work with the Stanwix station in supplying the demands of the downtown district. A tunnel, 2,900 feet long, will connect the station with the present tunnel system at William Penn way and Seventh avenue.

MOTOR CLUB TO HOLD ELECTION TOMORROW

The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Motor Club will be held tomorrow night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. The speakers will be W. W. Matthews, chief of safety of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and J. L. Herber, division engineer of the Pennsylvania department of highways. An election will be held to select five directors. The terms of James F. Malone, Pressley H. Bailey, C. H. Roth, S. S. Smith and C. H. Allen expire.

RADIO THIEVES TAKE PARTS FOR EMERGENCY

Radio thieves who robbed McHugh Brothers' store, 3229 McClure avenue, last night, prepared for an emergency. In addition to a radio valued at $157, they took $50 worth of accessories.

That We May Better Serve

The Following Departments Have Been Relocated:

Rugs on the Sixth

Rugs are now in the beautiful Moorish Room on the Sixth Floor—adjacent to the Drapery Department—so that rug and drapery harmonies may be more easily effected. Not only Oriental rugs but new Spring domestic rugs are now ready for your consideration.

Lamps on the Mezzanine

Lamps are now shown in the new Mezzanine shop, conveniently located but a few steps from the Street Floor. The latest lamps to arrive emphasize the modernist conception in art.

Modern Art Studio on the Eleventh

—where gratis instructions in Wadee and the use of Egyptian Lacquer and Gypsy Dyes will be given in more spacious quarters. Lighting is excellent and distraction by shoppers will be minimized.

A New Modern Art Demonstrated Exclusively at McCreery's

Gypsy Dyes

—for hand painting, threadless embroidering, batik and tie-dye art. A new decorative process that will be promoted exclusively by McCreery's.

The variety of art objects that may be created with stencil, brush and gypsy dyes are on display—not only fabrics for home decoration but for personal wear. The method is fascinating and easy to learn. The completed work is effective and in accord with the vogue for all things modernistic.

Gypsy Dye Outfits, Complete $5.50
Gypsy Junior Sets.....$2.50
Perforated Patterns...50c to $2.00

Gypsy Dye lectures and instruction gratis in the Modern Art Studio, newly moved to larger and more spacious quarters on the Eleventh Floor.

CRYSTAL TREES

With Dennison Materials—A Demonstrator Will Be at McCreery's All This Week to Show You How

It's really quite easy—and the tree you make will compare favorably in appearance with the expensive crystal trees enjoying such vogue in smart modern homes. The tree may be a coral species, a drooping wisteria, a red pepper tree or a wind-blown palm. The materials are available at a nominal cost—instruction, of course, is free.

DELINQUENT TAXABLES

Of the City of

PITTSBURGH

Including

School Taxes

Of the Board of Public Education of Said City

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE

Collector of Delinquent Taxes

CITY-COUNTY BUILDING, GRANT AND DIAMOND STS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 27, 1928.

The following list of Delinquent Taxes for the year 1927, unpaid at this date to the City of Pittsburgh, and to the Board of Public Education of said city, are hereby advertised in accordance with the provisions of the Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled, "An act for the government of cities of the second class, approved the 7th day of March, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and one, providing for the levy, collection and disbursement of taxes and water rents or rates, and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the City Treasurer, the Board of Water Assessors, and the Collector of Delinquent Taxes, and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for," approved the 12th day of May, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and eleven; and an act entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenues, and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent herewith," approved the 18th day of May, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

Notice is hereby given to the owners of property hereinafter mentioned and to all other persons concerned therein, that all taxes and water rents due to the City of Pittsburgh, and all School Taxes due to the Board of Education of said city for the year 1927, hereinafter set forth, together with a penalty of 2 per centum (2%) thereon for the non-payment thereof at the time provided in said acts, and together with the cost of advertising the same will be entered as liens against said properties and the same sold to satisfy such taxes and water rents unless the same shall be paid to the undersigned on or before Saturday, March 12, 1928.

WALLACE BORLAND,
Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

FIREMEN FIGHT BLAZE WITH GAS MASKS

A stubborn fire in the basement of buildings in Third and Fourth avenues was fought for two hours early today by firemen, who were forced to don gas masks while searching for the source of the fire. Two stores in Third avenue and a restaurant in Fourth avenue were damaged, the total loss being estimated at about $2,000 by Battalion Chief Richard Jones.

The fire is believed to have originated from an undetermined cause in the basement of Bonnini's restaurant in the Shannon Building at 326 Fourth avenue. The flames spread to adjoining basements in buildings at 325 and 327 Third avenue, occupied by the White Front Meat Market and the confectionery store of Frank Deano.

Firemen experienced difficulty in finding the source of the blaze, due to the heavy smoke. They were in grave danger while in the basement of the meat market, where several ammonia tanks of the refrigeration system were in danger of loosing their fumes.

58 SEIZED IN SUBWAY INN

Fifty-eight men and women were arrested early Sunday morning when county detectives raided the Subway Inn, 418 Dickson street, Homestead. Chick Schwartz and Theodore Karmadis, alleged proprietors, were charged with keeping a disorderly house, violating the Snyder act and violating a borough ordinance. Twenty women and 36 men were charged with visiting a disorderly house. Three escaped. A hearing will be held tonight before Justice T. F. Johnston, of Munhall.

HANGS HIMSELF AT MAYVIEW

Armand Amory, of 212 Ulysses street, a patient in the City Hospital, Mayview, committed suicide by hanging in his room at the hospital late yesterday, according to a report to the morgue today.

Pittsburgh has a symphony orchestra!

Last night in Syria Mosque 4,000 people said with loud applause that they wanted an orchestra and only a few were seen to leave before the program was completed. The Rev. Carl August Voss stepped to the stage at an anxious moment, while we were still wondering if the committee were safely out of the hands of persecutors, and delivered the invocation. In another moment Richard Hageman appeared, raised his baton, and the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra was a reality.

The audience was very representative of our city. No one appeared to have come out of curiosity; the event was marked by extreme reverence and dignity throughout the evening. Since the orchestra is no longer a dream, there are many things to be decided. Shall we make the organization fill popular needs, is it to be educational, or is it at once to assume the responsibility of its highest cultural calling and give us only the very best music regardless of popular outcry? Last night's program fulfilled all three needs. There was Beethoven's finest overture, a real corner-stone for the orchestra; there was Tschaikowsky's symphony of Fate; a few operatic airs and a Russian waltz to amuse, then finally the tumultuous overture to Rienzi as climax.

The vocal interpolations certainly did not add quality to the program, but from the first chords in the orchestra we were at once aware that Hageman had his men in hand, that his readings would of necessity be direct with little flexibility. The most striking quality in our new orchestra is at present their ensemble, which is quite remarkable when we consider that these men had to await delayed permission from the court before it was worth while beginning rehearsals. The concerted strings in the Leonore Overture, the pizzicati effects of the scherzo in the symphony showed signs of early maturity in that choir. Even the brass during the Wagner was never offensive and responded true to pitch. There are subtleties in expression and phrasing of which I cannot speak at this time; the conductor had no time to think of them and we can await another concert to look for them. The important fact remains that the orchestra is on its feet. We were certain after the Rienzi.

Marjory Maxwell, a very charming lyric soprano, sang besides her two allotted numbers Bizet's "Fillet de Cadiz," a "Bird Song" of Coates and Musetta's Waltz Song from "La Boheme." Her voice has a warm middle register, occasionally marred with vibrato; she had nothing original to say in her music. Earl Mitchell played accompaniments.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Enemy Aliens That Infest the Whole Human System

Pasteur's Great Discovery And the Part It Has Played in Man's War on Germs

How the Black Death killed 25 million people in Europe in 10 years of the Fourteenth Century was one tremendous fact discussed by Author Dorsey in the chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph yesterday. The reader learned how fleas transmit plague; the truth about the mosquito that carries malaria germs, the cooties that carry trench fever and typhus, and how typhoid and tuberculosis are spread.

Hard Boiled and Frozen Bacteria

CHAPTER XVI.

IN 1683 there lived a curious Dutchman who ground lenses. He scraped some tartar from his teeth, mixed it with water, and examined it under his lens. What he saw was a more astounding sight than that which confronted Balboa, who, from his peak in Darien, saw a lot of water. For ages man had known of the Pacific Ocean and millions of men had sailed its deeps; Leeuwenhoek, the delft lens-maker, was the first human being to see a bacterium.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

And the world promptly forgot him and continued for a century and a half to argue "spontaneous generation" and to exorcise devils as causes of disease. It remained for Louis Pasteur (1822-95) to prove the part bacteria play in decay, putrefaction, fermentation, and many other processes until then hidden from the ken of man. Koch, in 1876, proved the causal relation between the bacillus anthracis and the disease anthrax, and in 1882 invented the "solid culture-media" for the study of bacteria. Pasteur founded a new science—biology; Koch revolutionized man's attitude toward the world and gave the human race its first rational theory of disease.

Bacteria are so small that almost nothing of their anatomy is known but their shape, and that changes according to circumstances. They not only vary during their life cycle, but as individuals; even abnormal and monstrous forms are found.

All bacteria have some power of locomotion. The typhoid bacillus can make about a tenth of an inch an hour, or 2,000 times its own length. Some travel faster—so fast that if we could move as fast in proportion to our size, we could run a mile a minute.

How Fast They Multiply!

Bacteria show amazing vital capacity. They can defy hours of boiling water; their spores can resist a temperature of 212 degrees. Some sulphur bacteria haunt hot springs in water at 190 degrees. Some multiply at freezing point. Typhoid and diphtheria germs will live for days in a temperature of liquid air (284 below zero). Some bacteria have been known to defy liquid hydrogen temperature (464 below zero).

Even more astounding is their capacity to multiply. One becomes two by simple division. The germ of Asiatic cholera can divide every 15 minutes. Within 24 hours one could become 78,700,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000; but the victim is usually dead in less than 12 hours, killed by the toxins of these prodigious workers. In growing and dividing they have consumed food and liberated carbon dioxide. They are foreigners in our system, living at our expense and leaving their toxic garbage for us to eliminate.

Bacteria Everywhere

The air we breathe and the food we eat are full of bacteria, and our body is covered with them. This is not literally true, but it is true enough to emphasize the question: Why are they not always and more promptly fatal? Many factors enter into the case. For example, an entire group of bacteria live on our skin, where they are harmless. A scratch or a pin-prick opens the skin. Now they are inside our body, but the only damage may be a boil or a pimple. Boils are usually not contagious and rarely fatal. Sometimes they are. It depends.

Which brings us up to immunity. But note, first, that there are many kinds of immunity—and back of all the same principle: I am either immune or I am not. If I take it or catch it, I am not immune; if I do not take it or catch it, I am immune. But I may go down with it tomorrow! In other words, there are variable factors which will determine my predisposition to infection or my power of resistance against infection: age, hunger, thirst, fatigue, exposure to extremes of heat and cold, are such variable factors.

Rampages of Bacteria

Even different strains of bacteria vary in their intensity; diphtheria and influenza, for example. There are mild epidemics, there are severe epidemics. Again, certain diseases seem to predispose toward invasion by the germs of other diseases. Acute tuberculosis may follow on the heels of measles; streptococci may invade lungs already occupied by tubercular bacilli. Typhoid fever and pneumonia, diphtheria and scarlet fever, are well known combinations of diseases.

Trypanosoma, the germ of sleeping-sickness, is carried by flies from animal to animal. The disease is almost regularly fatal; it cost Uganda 200,000 human lives, the Congo Basin 500,000. One infected animal sent to the Transvaal started an epidemic among the cattle; 15,000 died.

Why any animals left then, or any flies? The tsetse fly, which carries the trypanosoma, is immune, as are the wild animals which live in Central Africa. But let an outsider—dog, horse, man—venture in! Outsiders are not immune; their blood has no answer to sleeping-sickness; they die, unless then can get Bayer's "205."

Which means that immunity itself is a relative term. We are all susceptible under certain conditions; we all have more or less power of resistance. To some bacteria we are naturally immune; to others we are naturally susceptible. The problem is to acquire immunity. How can we get exemption from disease?

Acquired Immunity

By having smallpox we acquire immunity from smallpox, also by vaccination. Against typhoid, from plague and Asiatic cholera, we acquire immunity by vaccination with dead bacteria—"cultures." With a secretion (or excretion) of living bacteria we acquire immunity from diphtheria. In other words, we become actively immune by incorporating into our body "live virulent bacteria, less virulent bacteria, dead bacteria, bacterial secretions or bacterial products from broken-down dead bacteria." An anti-bacterial serum is a protective; an antitoxin serum is a curative.

Much is known of the "how" of immunity, almost nothing of the "why." But great advance in the future will come from specific artificial remedies—drugs, chemotherapy. The problem is to find a drug that will kill the bug, but not the patient—"magic bullets charmed to fly straight to a specific objective, turning aside from anything else in its path."

Quinine is specific death for malaria germs; ipecacuanha for the ameba which causes amebic dysentary. Possibly chaulmoogra oil is a specific cure for leprosy; asphenamin ("606") for relapsing fever, and yaws; atoxyl for sleeping sickness. The list of specific cures is pitiably small yet. Bacteriology is new, immunology is newer. Only recently have the chemotherapists had real targets to shoot at. The problems which confront them today are vastly more important than the puny worlds Alexander exhausted in his conquests.

121 GET PITT DEGREES TUESDAY, CHARTER DAY

Charter Day, the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of the legal founding of the University of Pittsburgh, will be observed tomorrow at exercises in Memorial Hall at 11:30 o'clock. Mid-year commencement will also take place at that time and 121 degrees will be conferred. Paul J. Sachs, assistant director of Fogg Museum, the principal speaker, will talk on "The Role of the Patron in Art." The Rev. Jacob S. Payton, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will render the invocation. Seven undergraduate students, it has been announced, will graduate from the university with honor.

It is a story, this "Jerry," that will captivate you and instruct you from the beginning to the final climax. Start it in Tuesday's Sun-Telegraph.

NAB 28 IN RING ROUNDUP

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—With most of the participants under arrest and a large amount of the loot recovered, the sensational $133,000 Grank Trunk bombing and mail robbery, staged Saturday morning at a South Side suburban station, was virtually cleared up today, according to high police officials and postal inspectors assigned to the case.

More than half of the stolen money is believed to have been recovered. The latest cache was discovered early today in a police raid on a flat several blocks from the scene of the holdup. Eighteen thousand dollars was recovered there, and three women, found in the place, were arrested.

This brings the total arrests in connection with the robbery to 30 men and eight women. Two of the men and one of the women have made complete confessions, according to Deputy Police Commissioner William E. O'Connor.

The two men who have made complete confessions, according to Deputy O'Connor, are Charles Cleaver and William Donovan. O'Connor regards them as the "brains" and ring leaders of the gang of seven men who actually staged the daring holdup.

From their captives police learned the loot was divided into seven shares of $17,000 each, with $14,000 set aside as a legal defense fund in case of emergency. All but two of the actual bandits are said to be in custody.

CITIES not only are concerned with eliminating dirt, but also noise. Co-operation of motorcycle drivers would help in cutting down the bedlam of downtown streets. The average man suspects that when a motorcycle rider buys his machine he gets a book of instructions which tells him how he can make the most noise with his small engine. When the wheels are moving a motorcycle is tolerable, but when they come to a stop the drivers seem to speed up the engine, throttle it down, and speed it up with a sharp ear for making the greatest possible commotion.

SOME of the civilian drivers, besides attiring themselves to resemble a speed cop, also manage to frighten motorists half stiff by coming up from behind with an air of having a summons to appear in court in their hands. We have never seen a motorcycle driver who didn't appear to be carrying a pardon for a man who in the next moment would be hanged. In brief, of all the nervousness peculiar to city life motorcycle drivers seem to be in the van. We have yet to see one who appeared to have any leisure.

"IT IS," writes a correspondent, "a general mistake made by most quartets that Sweet Adeline is the best drinking song. This is wrong. There are two numbers which for close harmony, gestures by the lead, closed eyes for the bass, and the subtle nuisances of the baritone fare better. I refer to 'Down in Jungle Town,' and 'Under the Yum Yum Tree.'"

NO DOGMA on this subject can be issued by anyone. It is a matter of choice. 'A 250 pound man we know, insists on singing: "I'm Called Little Butter Cup," and a short man of our acquaintance prefers "It Takes Nine Tailors to Make a Man."

IT MAY not cause any great stir, but "Broadway," at the Pitt is the second best thing we have seen in three or four years. What leads all, beyond of course, the weighty drama, is the play, "The Show Off," written by George Kelly.

GEORGE KELLY, one of the best playwrights in America, used to come to the vaudeville houses here, acting in one-act sketches from his own pen. On one of his visits he was working to elaborate on a one-act sketch he had written. He was a little dubious whether it would amount to anything and like a great many authors showed its outline to a Pittsburgher. That sketch later became "The Show-Off" which turned out to be one of the greatest hits of recent years.

AN ATTORNEY calls up to tell us a story about male twins in Pittsburgh, who in middle-age, still dress alike, and resemble each other so much that it is no trick at all for one to enter the other's house and have all the children erroneously say: "Here's Pop."

Lily Goes to Pat, Is Unwelcome, But Stays

AS SHE started down the stairs she heard her mother giving sharp, quick orders to her husband, 'Go down and get the car out for her, Cy! We can't stop her, can we? I ought to go with her, I suppose—"

Lily flung one sentence over her shoulder. "Well, you're not coming, so you may as well go back to bed and forget it."

It was exactly 4 o'clock when Lily stopped her father's car in front of the little white house, with the brown shutters.

There was no light in the sky, but a robin was beginning to sing in the bare lilac bushes under the one lighted window of the little house—the window of Pat's room.

Looking up at it, Lily saw it was open, and she started up the drive. Florence France leaned from it. Her pink kimono was bright in the light behind her.

"Who's there?" she asked, softly, and when Lily told her she came running down to let her in.

"You want to see Pat?" she whispered, opening the door.

Walking as if she were walking in a dream, Lily followed her up the stairs to Pat's room. He lay there on the bed with closed eyes, and beside him sat Elizabeth Ertz.

CHAPTER LXIII.

LILY never forgot the scene in the little white bedroom that night.

It had been stripped of everything that could be easily moved, and it was almost as bare and white as a hospital room. There was a folded newspaper over the lamp on the table beside the bed, and bottles gleamed from the top of Pat's chiffonrobe.

The Ertz was all in white—a tiny peaked cap on her head and a uniform fairly glistening with whiteness on her slender, straight body. Her shoes and stockings were white, too, and she was as crisp and spotless and professional-looking as a head nurse on duty in a hospital.

She turned her head and looked up at Lily, standing on the threshold. There was no surprise in her eyes.

"Sshh!" she said, quite as if Lily were a perfect stranger who might disturb her very sick patient. She seemed to have absolutely no interest in her beyond that, and almost at once she looked back at Pat and went on counting his heart beats.

Lily looked at him, too. His face was flushed a little, and his breathing was very rapid. His lips were half open, and when The Ertz slipped a clinical thermometer between them, she had to close them with her fingers.

"Is he unconscious?" Lily asked, forgetting for an instant that this woman was her mortal enemy.

And, as if The Ertz had forgotten it herself, she glanced up and nodded. There was no hostility in that look—there was nothing but the alert, and yet curiously calm expression, of the born nurse on duty.

"What's the matter with him?" Lily asked, and then she shook her head.

"Sshh!" she whispered again, drawing the thermometer from between Pat's lips.

She bent over towards the lamp to look closely at it. She frowned and looked at it again.

Then she got up from her chair, felt Pat's pulse once more, and her frown deepened.

At last she laid his hand down upon his chest and started out of the room.

"What's the matter, 'Lizbeth?" Florence France asked from the shadows of the hall where she had been standing, holding her cotton kimono tight around her shoulders. "Is he any worse?" Her teeth chattered and her eyes were big with terror.

Instead of answering, the nurse swept down the hall and on down the stairs. Her clothes crackled like paper as she went.

In a second her voice, low and calm, came floating up to the two women in the upper hall. She gave a number, and then, after a little pause, she said something so softly that neither one of them could make out what it was.

"She's calling the doctor. She's frightened," Florence whispered to Lily, and she began to cry hysterically. The hand that went out and grasped Lily by the shoulder was cold as ice, and it shook.

"You go to bed," The Ertz said the minute she saw Florence. "You were up all last night, and I'll have another invalid on my hands if you don't get some rest."

She turned towards Lily, and her eyes narrowed a trifle. "Will you go downstairs and wait for the doctor?" she asked. "He'll be here in 10 or 15 minutes, and I don't want him to ring the bell and waken the family.

With a quick nod of her head Lily hurried down the stairs and into the hall. It was dark, and it was sweet with the fragrance of dried rose-leaves that were in a jar on the table under the mirror. Lily knew that smell as she knew other small, unimportant things about that house, and it took her back to the days, nearly a year ago, when she had lived there.

The Ertz had turned on a lamp in the living room on the right-hand side of the hall, and the place looked very bright and cheerful and inviting, with its bright chintz covers and its flowering plants between the ruffled curtains at the windows.

"I'll wait right here," thought Lily, and settled herself on the wide, old-fashioned davenport that commanded a view of the lamp-lit street.

She sat there, listening to the soft footfalls of the nurse in the room above her head, and wondering just how sick Pat was . . . wondering what could be the matter with him.

It was comforting to her to be in the same house with him, and, in spite of her dislike of The Ertz, it was comforting to know that she was here on the job. She seemed to know her business and to be ready for any emergency.

"I'll let her nurse Pat, but I'll stay right here in the house until he's out of the woods," Lily said to herself, her eyes fixed on the window panes. "Or until he dies."

There was no feeling in her as she sat there against the pillows of the old couch—nothing but a dull kind of curiosity. All the grief and remorse and anxiety that had kept her awake all night had left her . . . She felt as cold and dead as a stone.

The minutes passed by, ticked off by the gilt clock on the mantel piece. Why didn't the doctor come? Surely 10 or 15 minutes had been ticked off since The Ertz has sent her down here—

She began to count the seconds. "One, two, three, four, five, six—seven—eight—"

It was bright morning when she opened her eyes again.

For a full minute she did not know where she was. Then the tick-tock of the clock reminded her of the night before.

She sat up and looked around the room, blinking. The door that had been open was shut now, and a window that faced the street was wide open. Someone had thrown an overcoat over her and pulled off her slippers. But she was still wearing her hat and coat.

"I must have fallen asleep!" she thought. "And I was to have let the doctor in."

But perhaps he had not yet come. Perhaps it was just a few minutes after dawn and he was still on his way—

She looked at the clock. It was half past eight. Half past eight! Why, she had been asleep for hours! And what had happened to Pat in the meantime? What had the doctor to say about him?

In an instant Lily was out of the room and up the stairs in her stocking feet. There was a cot in the upper hall, and The Ertz lay stretched out upon it in her starched white uniform.

At first Lily thought she was asleep, but as she stood looking down at her, her eyes opened and she sat up.

"Did you want me?" she asked, and Lily nodded.

"What about Pat? Has the doctor been here?"

"Hours ago," answered the nurse. "You fell asleep, and I covered you up." She spoke as naturally as if there never had been any bitterness between the two of them.

"I fell asleep," Lily repeated. "I didn't have a wink of sleep all last night until I got here."

The little nurse smiled. "I haven't had a wink of sleep for two nights," she said. "Not since he was taken sick—"

Lily felt as if she were telling her how much she loved Pat—so much that she couldn't sleep when he was ill. She felt as if she were pointing out to her how much more Pat meant to her than he meant to his wife, who could sleep for hours when he was lying, critically sick, in the house.

"Pat's mother knows you're here," The Ertz said next. "Have you seen her yet?"

Lily shook her head. "I suppose I ought to go and tell her that I've come here to stay in the house until Pat's better—or worse," she thought. But she hated the thought of having to do it. Pat's mother could be so sharp and plain-spoken when she wanted to be. She could say the most cutting things!

"And I haven't any right to be in this house, I suppose," she went on thinking, turning towards the stairs. "After all, I'm divorcing Pat, and these people all know about Staley. They must hate me—all but The Ertz. She knows she's landed Pat, so she doesn't feel peeved towards me any more. Especially since the lawyer took her name out of my divorce papers—"

She reached the bottom of the stairs and started down the hall to the closed door of the kitchen. From behind it came the sound of sizzling bacon and the plop-plop of a coffee percolator as it boiled.

She opened the door and went in.

Pat's mother was standing at the kitchen stove, stirring something in a little pan.

She turned when Lily came up behind her and gave her a full and steady look.

"Well—so the cat came back," she remarked, sarcastically, and then, with a single swift movement, she pushed her glasses up on her forehead. "What did you come here for? Did you hear Pat was sick, or did you just come after him?"

"I came because he was sick," Lily said simply, not very sure just why she had come, except that she had to come. "I'm going to stay here and help out with things—until he's better, if you'll let me."

Mrs. France smiled without mirth. "You help out with things!" she repeated, mockingly. "That's very funny to me, when you couldn't even stay awake to let the doctor in last night. He woke us all up, ringing the door bell, but you slept through it all, as if you hadn't a care in the world."

Her lips came together with a snap, and then she finished what she had to say:

"I'm sure I don't know why you came here! You and Pat are separated and you don't care anything about each other any more. You've got a great big divorce case coming on—and the way I look at it is that the best thing you can do is just to get out of this house and go back to your own folks, where you belong. . . . You don't belong here. You'd just be a bother around the house, too, even if we wanted you here—which we certainly don't."

"Well!" Lily drew a long breath. "That's surely plain speaking, isn't it? But I'm not going! You can't put me out of this house, Mrs. France. I'm going to stay!"

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" — By Adele Garrison

Madge Prepares to Face Philip Veritzen in Behalf of His Son, Noel

AT my announcement that the men at our dinner were to wear comfortable summer clothing instead of evening dress, Philip Veritzen smiled with what I saw was distinct pleasure. Dicky had been mistaken, I told myself thankfully. The great producer, punctilious though he was, welcomed the opportunity to be comfortable as gladly as had the other men of the party.

"This is only another instance of your matchless good sense and thoughtfulness," he told me flamboyantly and confusedly I marshaled my guests toward the entrance door.

"Mary, will you take care of Marion?" I called over my shoulder, and with a directing nod to Jim, who had come unobtrusively to the car and helped Otto with the luggage, I led my little procession to the upper hall, ushering Mr. Veritzen into my father's comfortable suite of sitting room, bedroom and bath, an arrangement which he had made for himself after buying back the farmhouse from me.

"Dicky will come to you as soon as he is dressed," I assured him, and then I drew Lillian down the hall to my room, passing her own where Marion and Mary were already busily unpacking bags.

"I'll hang up everything," Marion called cheerily, evidently determined to atone for her inadvertent rudeness at the door.

"All right, darling, thank you," her mother called back, and then to me, as I shut my room door upon us:

"Why all the rubber-shoe stuff? What's happened?"

"Nothing very startling," I told her. "It's only that Noel Veritzen won't come to the dinner unless his father knows that he is to be a guest and sanctions his presence here."

Lillian gave a low whistle.

"Well," she said at last, "you've got to hand it to the lad. He has a proper pride. But I can foresee a nice little session for you with dear old Phil."

"But I was hoping that you—" I faltered.

She turned and, putting her hands on my shoulders, looked quizzically into my eyes.

"You know very well that nobody on earth but you can hope to pull this stunt," she said.

I felt an oddly shamefaced reluctance to meet her eyes, but managed somehow to keep my gaze steady. It was a harder thing to keep my voice free from an embarrassed tremor, but I managed that also, even achieved a certain effect of amused nonchalance.

"Then we shall be backing a very forlorn hope," I returned, smiling. "But if you absolutely refuse—"

"I most certainly do," Lillian said with emphasis.

"Then I'll do the best I can," I finished abruptly.

Lillian gave an amused little laugh.

"You sound exactly as if you had just volunteered to go into the enemy camp and 'bring back the powder,'" she said. "But don't you care, old dear," quickly, as she saw my flushed face. "You will return with your shield, not on it—please pipe my mixed metaphors!"

She crossed to my side, clapped my shoulder with her hand—the old reassuring gesture which I knew so well.

"I won't leave you all alone on the job," she promised. "You'll need a goddess of the machine if you get any chance to see Phil Veritzen before dinner time. There's where I'll come in. I'll agree to engage Dicky's attention and your mother-in-law's while you get the old boy off by himself, and read the riot act to him."

Lamb's Tongue

Take four lambs' tongues and boil them until tender; drain, skin and cut them in halves lengthwise. Have ready a smooth, well-seasoned tomato sauce not made too thick, and put the tongues into it. Arrange a ring of freshly boiled rice on a hot dish and pour the lamb in the center. Garnish with stuffed baked potatoes and fried apple. This makes an inexpensive and delightful dish.

OPEN STANLEY THEATER TONIGHT

Pittsburgh's newest motion-picture palace, The Stanley Theater, regarded as one of the most attractive places of amusement in Pennsylvania, will be opened tonight with a notable array of prominent personages taking part in the ceremonies.

As part of the $10,000,000 development in Seventh street, from Penn to Liberty avenues, the theater, as a part of the 23-story Clark Building, forms an imposing architectural addition to the downtown development of the city.

At the invitation of the owners of the new theater, which will be operated by the Stanley-Davis-Clark Corporation under the direction of the Stanley Company of America, Gov. John S. Fisher, of the commonwealth; Mayor Charles H. Kline, of Pittsburgh; Clifford B. Hawley, president of the First National Pictures Corporation; Adolph Zukor, president of Paramount Pictures Corporation, and others, are expected to be present at the opening.

Officials of the Stanley Company of America arrived last night in a special car from Philadelphia. These include Irving D. Rossheim, president of the company; Abe Sablosky, vice president; Frank Buhler, general manager; John J. McGuirk, chairman of the board of directors, and others.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps of the University of Pittsburgh, with its band, will form at Ross street at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and escort Mayor Kline to the new theater where he will take part in the flag-raising and unveiling of a tablet in commemoration of the event.

The doors of the new theater will open to the public for the first time tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A distinguished array of talent has been engaged for this event.

MRS. LINDBERGH FLIES TO HUB

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—This city today played host to Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, Detroit high school teacher, and mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

She arrived here yesterday in the coldest weather of the year after an airplane trip from Detroit to be a guest of the National Educational Association during its convention.

Accompanying her was Miss Maud Dawson, fellow teacher at the Cass Technical High School. They arrived in a tri-motored United States Army airplane, piloted by Lieut. Albert F. Hegenberger of Hawaiian flight fame, and Lieut. Harry Johnson.

They made the trip from Selfridge Field in a little more than seven hours and were received here by an enthusiastic crowd.

They were slightly chilled by the cold, but Mrs. Lindbergh was more concerned at the fate of Harry Brooks, pilot of the Ford monoplane which dropped into the sea off the Florida coast Saturday. Brooks was Mrs. Lindbergh's pilot when she flew to Mexico City to spend the Christmas holiday with her famous son.

Accordion Drives Man to Drink; Fined $50

A discordant accordion player brought woe to Mike Simon, 31, proprietor of a confectionery store at 1342 Reedsdale street.

Simon pot up with terrible sounds that came from the wind instrument, for it entertained a crowd of not-so-particular customers. But neighbors objected.

As Patrolman Robert Purvis, hands to his ears, walked into the store to demand a halt, Simon grabbed a bottle of moonshine and attempted to empty it. He was arrested, and in the Allegheny Police Court today was fined $50.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

News From Southland Softens Harsh Days Being Experienced by Pittsburgh Stay-at-Homes

HEADS JUNIOR CLASS

MISS BETTY MARSHALL

Miss Betty Marshall is president of the junior class of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College and led the grand march Friday night at prom held in the University Club.

NOWADAYS I am always talking, it seems to me, about what society folk are doing at Palm Beach or Nassau. Perhaps one reason is that on these cold, harsh days of February, just to mention the South makes me feel warmer.

The Herbert A. Mays, of Beacon street, are taking quite an active interest in the social whirl of the Palm Beach season. They entertained at a dinner at the Whitehall Saturday night, after which they and their guests joined in the dance at the hotel, always an outstanding event of the week-end social calendar.

Thomas Mellon, who was one of the hosts entertaining for the Pittsburgh buds during the season recently closed, is at Palm Beach, too, where he is still cast in the role of host. He gave a dinner at the Whitehall, too, on Saturday night. And his guests included that prominent society woman of Pittsburgh, Mrs. W. Harry Brown. Mrs. Brown, who stayed in Pittsburgh this year for the season, the first time for quite a few years, gave quite an interesting reception in the European style in her Fifth avenue home early in the winter, I recall. Mrs. Brown's sister, Mrs. Louis K. Hyde, of Plainfield, N. J., also was among the guests, as were the James Francis Burkes.

A number of out-of-town notables also were at the dinner.

The William Haywards, of New York, who are spending the season at the Whitehall, gave a large supper-dance Saturday evening in the Oasis Club, which they reserved for the evening. Among the guests was that much-sought-after Pittsburgh bachelor, Richard K. Mellon.

While we are talking about the Mellon family, I wonder if you know that young Mr. and Mrs. David K. Estes Bruce have taken an apartment at Sutton place, New York, which they will occupy until May. Then they will occupy the Morawetz estate at Syosset, Long Island. This estate, you probably know, was purchased by Mrs. Bruce's father, Andrew M. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury. Needless to say, Mrs. Bruce is the former Alles Mellon, whose wedding several seasons ago in Washington was a notable event.

Among the few social events of the week-end here in the North was a buffet luncheon Mrs. Walter Tabor Grange gave Friday afternoon in her home in Shields. Bridge followed the luncheon with five tables in play.

It's rather hard to decide, don't you think, whether to go South or to Europe? The only solution I could ever find would be to do both. Mary A. Robinson, daughter of William H. Robinson, however, has decided to go to Paris. She sailed Saturday from New York for France. With her was Marguerite Ayers, of Boston. They expect to spend three or four months in that fascinating city—Paris.

Margaret Wright Stewart, daughter of the William Lincoln Stewarts, of Aylesboro avenue, will leave shortly for Louisville, where she will be the guest of Mary Park Kaye.

Some of our local people are visiting out in California, too. Mrs. H. D. W. English, of Fair Oaks street, and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Stuart Wunder, of Kipling road, are among them. They are guests of the Robert Pitcairns and the Guy Rutherford McCombs, in Pasadena. Mrs. English is going to remain in California for some time. Mrs. Wunder, I believe, expects to return home late in March.

Also in California is Mrs. C. Bernard Shea II, of Tennyson avenue. She is at Brentwood Height for the winter, and will return East about April 1.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Doris Virginia Sargent, of Emsworth, and John Forest Gearhart, of Johnstown, which was solemnized November 3 in Greensburg by the Rev. Frederick C. Martin. Mr. Gearhart is a senior in the University of Pittsburgh dental school and is a member of the Psi Omega fraternity.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Angloch, daughter of Henry L. Angloch, of Bellaire avenue, Brookline, and Ralph Phillippi, also of Brookline, which was solemnized last Wednesday in the Angloch home. Owing to a recent death in the family, the wedding was very small. Miss Lenore McCullough was maid of honor and Lloyd Phillippi was his brother's best man. Mrs. Ruth Lytle played the wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. Phillippi are taking an eastern trip and after March 15 will be at home in Bellaire avenue.

Mrs. Carlton S. Koch and her son, Richard, of Maple avenue, Edgewood, and Miss Janice Johnston, of Wallace avenue, left Friday for Tulsa, Okla., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bartlett, formerly of Pittsburgh. They will return home late in March.

The engagement of Miss Jean Elaine Park, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson Park, of Wilkinsburg, to Baldwin Eugene Weaver, of Minnesota, was announced Saturday at a bridge luncheon given in Kaufmann's by Mrs. Park. An early spring wedding is planned. There were 21 guests at the luncheon and the favors were corsages of spring flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lewis, of Gordon street, Wilkinsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Lewis, to Carl Chester Boos, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Boos, of Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Eleanor Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Ewing, of Jeannette street, Wilkinsburg, and Ralph Jamison Buterbaugh, which was solemnized February 3 in the Ewing home by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Leith, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Buterbaugh are at home in Meade street, Wilkinsburg.

Miss Betty Brubaker, of Mt. Lebanon and Washington, Pa., entertained with a bridge luncheon in her home Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Bianche M. Lazarus, of Kentucky avenue, whose marriage to Grand A. Pluskey of Millvale, will be solemnized April 7. Miss Brubaker is to be the only attendant at the wedding.

SENATOR HARRIS WILL ADDRESS WOMEN VOTERS

Senator Frank J. Harris and Mrs. J. O. Miller are the speakers scheduled for a meeting of the Fourth Ward League of Women Voters which will be held in St. Peter's Episcopal parish house tonight. There will be a voting machine demonstration. The Twelfth Ward League members are to have a demonstration also, theirs taking place this afternoon in Kingsley House. Mrs. Elizabeth B. Motz will address the meeting. Mrs. Motz will again speak at the monthly meeting of the Twenty-first Ward League in the Manchester Educational Center tonight, and she will have as her subject, "Presidential Possibilities" when she addresses the Twenty-fifth Ward League tomorrow night in the North Side Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. W. G. A. Millar will be hostess to the Bellevue League Wednesday afternoon in her home, Orchard avenue. Mrs. A. H. Bowman will give a resume of the "Cause and Cure of War Conference." Mrs. Frank Ryman will be hostess to the members of the Dormont League at her home in Belrose avenue Wednesday afternoon when Dr. T. A. McCracken will speak on the county home at Woodville. Mrs. J. H. Fetterman and Mrs. H. M. White will act as aides during the social hour. A school for super watchers for instruction in all phases of elections will be given in a seven weeks' course beginning Friday, March 9, in the headquarters of the County League. There will be no charge for the course, but registration is necessary by Saturday morning.

Miss N. S. Karns, of Pittsburgh avenue, will be hostess on Wednesday to a group of Springdale women who are interested in educating women voters. Mrs. Motz will speak. On Thursday evening a political study club will be held under auspices of the League of Women Voters in the home of Mrs. D. A. Harvey, East Fourteenth avenue, Homestead. The monthly meeting of the Leetsdale League is set for Friday evening in the grade school house with Mrs. Motz as the speaker.

The monthly leaders' meeting will be in the Congress of Clubs Thursday, At 10:30 o'clock there will be a continuation of the program begun last month on "Children in Industry." The speakers will be Miss Flora Wheatley, from the vocational guidance department, attendance bureau of the North Continuation School, and Miss Helen McClure, junior employment office. After luncheon Dr. N. Andrew N. Cleven, of the history department, University of Pittsburgh, will give a survey of the Pan-American conference, from which he has just returned.

On Friday the Forum Club members will meet for work at the Workshop for the Blind. Articles from the Workshop will be on sale at the card party which the club will hold March 7 in the home of Mrs. Samuel E. Diescher.

The directors of the Beechview Women's Civic Club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. C. Stephens, Alverado avenue, on Friday evening to make arrangements for the March meeting, at which Dr. Luba Robin Goldsmith will be the speaker. A carpet rag cutting for the Workshop of the Blind was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Samuel Accipiter, and Mrs. Joseph Williams, of Methyl street, will have a card party on Saturday evening for the benefit of the building fund.

A Frances Willard memorial service will be held tomorrow by the Perrysville Women's Christian Temperance Union in the Perrysville Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church.

A luncheon will be held tomorrow at the Congress of Clubs by the Foster Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. W. T. Larimer will speak.

Under auspices of the Delta Chapter of the Delphian Society an open meeting will be held in the Congress of Clubs, Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The February meeting of the Dormont Mothers' Club tomorrow night will be in charge of the child study department, of which Mrs. Arthur H. Gale is chairman. James C. Mace, of the Y. M. C. A., who is to be the speaker, will talk on "The Rights of a Boy." Harry Hopkins and Mrs. Miles L. Sutton will furnish the music, Mrs. Sutton being accompanied by her daughter, Miss Helen Sutton. Mrs. C. L. Fairman is in charge of the social hour which will follow.

The OUTLAW of the PACK

HE was of a Danube breed of dogs, deep red, long haired—dogs trained to fight the wolves that preyed on their masters' sheep.

When born he proved to be a black-striped puppy, so different from the true breed that men and dogs turned against him. Saving his life with his fangs, he became the fighting champion of all the fierce dogs of the countryside.

Driven out at last, he lured after him along the magical trail his handsome young master, and thereby pleased a girl. Along the road were gypsies' dogs for the outlaw dog to conquer—while for the handsome youth there was a choice to make between Stiva, the girl with corn-tassel hair, and Marga, the dark daughter of the Gypsy chief.

Out of the lives of these romantic persons and the dog, Konrad Bercovici in March McClure's weaves a story you will not want to miss.

A Story by
KONRAD BERCOVICI

Is McKENNA The Modern O. HENRY ?

MR. COHN is a rich Jewish banker of New York City. Benny Siegall is a Jewish burlesque comedian.

Mr. Cohn, thinking Benny a rich producer, offers him a ride home in his expensive car.

During the ride an amazing thing happens to Benny Siegall—a friendship, beautifully begun, goes to smash, and in the story that results you see a study of New York characters that will grip you. Don't fail to read McKenna's story "Benny Siegall Steps Out of His Character."

The Cyclone Wooer

WM. SLAVENS McNUTT Writes of Love and War

MOLLIE, the neighborhood's tomboy, called Alfie a sap. But was he?

William Slavens McNutt brings back for us all the stir and color of 1917 in "ALFIE," a story of a boy the war made.

WAS James Christopher Bird a saint, or wasn't he? When he went from Cape Cod to southwest Texas and began his courting, some folks thought that he ought to be in jail, and others said he deserved a halo. What do you think?

Read "Sam Meets a Saint", a deliciously humorous yarn by Chester T. Crowell, in March McClure's, and decide for yourself.

THIRTY PIECES OF SILVER
By F. R. Buckley

THE color and action that made Sabatini's work popular is present in F. R. Buckley's THIRTY PIECES OF SILVER. In this McClure story you read of the strange things that happen to the romantic lieutenant, servant of the Duke of Rometia, who interferes in the wedding of Hugo the Firebrand and the Fair Griselda.

W. C. TUTTLE: The Shadow Shooter

W. C. TUTTLE'S serial as it nears its close brings a cattle range mystery into the light.

Another Tuttle serial soon.

There are a score of such stories and features in March McClure's. You can pick it out on the newsstands by its attractive Benda cover. Buy this richly entertaining March McClure's today.

SAYS ENGLAND NEVER WOULD FIGHT U. S.

By Universal Service.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—War between England and America was the subject of a leading editorial yesterday in the Sunday Observer. It was written by J. L. Garvin, famous British publicist and editor of the newspaper.

Garvin declares that the reduction of the American naval program has been the greatest thing for the betterment of relations between England and America since the Geneva muddle, which cast clouds of misconception over the international issue.

Referring to the clause empowering the President to suspend naval construction Garvin says:

"American does not slam the door, but throws it wide open.

"To whom do we owe this brightest sign of the future?

"While part of the credit is due to President Coolidge and part to British statesmanship the greater part of the praise belongs to the American people."

Pointing out that taxpayers through pressure on both parties have achieved naval reductions and quoting editorials from numerous American papers attacking Admiral Plunkett's recent speech, Garvin says:

"The gallant admiral by indulging at lunch in apocalyptic oratory has done more than any one man during the past six months to make his own propagandist nightmare impossible."

Declaring that the possibility of war between America and England is a "maniacal myth," Garvin added:

"Nothing on this earth could induce the British democracy to join such a power as Japan against the United States.

"It is absolutely certain that Britain would quit the league rather than be dragged into war with America."

HE TAMES 'EM WITH EYE

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 25.—Here y'are, ladies and gentlemen, the one, only and original lion tamer extraordinary, late of Algeria, Meet Alexander Drahma.

He meets the most ferocious beasts without arms or other aids and he conquers them—with a look of the eye.

He does that; and he did it today, to prove his claim.

Not only the king of beasts, or several of them, but tricky leopards also came before him and he stared them out of countenance.

He took them to walk, and they walked; to growl, and they growled; to go back into their cages, and they did that with more docility than so many children. He had waved his hands and looked at them.

There were those among the witnesses at the animal farm here who thought shock might have accounted for the docility of the beasts.

Alexandra stood before them sheet-draped to the waist; above that, nothing between him and the freezing winds.

FIRM APPEALS CITY TAX LEVY

Edwain M. Hill and G. Bruce Hill, doing business as the Hill Lumber Company, filed an appeal from the board of tax assessment on a tax levied against property owned by them at Railroad and Twenty-eighth streets, comprising approximately two acres.

The petitioners allege that they purchased the land through the Orphans Court last November 22, at a cost of $100,200—the previous owner being Thomas Marshall. The board of taxes assessed the ground at a valuation of $196,200, which the lumber company officials claim is excessive, prohibitive and not in accord with the valuation. They also allege that the neighborhood has deteriorated. Judge Richard W. Martin in Common Pleas Court made an order allowing the appeal.

"I paid a big price for that sore throat"

"Voice husky, throat raw, that night I wasn't 50% effective. And next day—well, I had to cancel a week's engagements. Now, I always carry a bottle of Formamint tablets with me. According to my doctor, they release a safe, powerful germicide over the whole throat. And I can take them anywhere, at any time."

Unlike gargles, Formamint enables you to treat sore throat continuously. Get a bottle now. See your physician for examination, too. To treat sore throat, one Formamint tablet every hour; as a preventive, one every two hours. All druggists.

EX-KLANSMAN NOT INSANE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 27.—D. C. Stephenson, former head of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, is not under observation for traces of insanity, according to a categorical statement Saturday from the Michigan City Prison, where he is serving a life term.

In an effort to successfully squelch reports current in Northern Indiana that the former grand dragon had broken down under the strain of prison confinement, Dr. Patrick H. Weeks, prison physician, in charge of the Indiana Hospital for Insane Criminals, issued the statement. He said that no official orders had been given him to keep Stephenson under observation for traits of insanity and said he believed "there was nothing to it."

"All prisoners showing symptoms of insanity are first reported to me by prison officials and then are observed by me for weeks," the doctor declared.

Under Indiana law a lunacy commission must be appointed at the request of the prison physician to pass on the mental fitness of a prisoner in any of the state penal institutions before he can legally be committed to the insane department of the prison.

THREATEN GIRL ACCUSER

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Feb. 27.—A threat of violence has been received by Rev. Thomas F. Pardue, itinerant evangelist and accuser of Alma Gatlin, recently acquitted of charges of murdering her father.

"We're coming after you and will run you out of town," a midnight voice cried into his telephone, Pardue claimed last night.

"I'm not reporting the matter to the police because I'm sitting pretty," Pardue said.

JOHNSTOWN STEEL FURNACES KEPT BUSY

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 27.—The Cambria plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation here is operating between 70 and 75 per cent of capacity, officials announced today. The blast furnaces in the Lower works are operating full, and 15 of the 20 open hearth furnaces at the Franklin department are in operation. Conditions are favorable for the month of March, officials say.

CLOSE SCHOOLS WHEN 3 DIE OF DIPHTHERIA

CLARE, Mich., Feb. 27.—Following the death of three children in the family of O. Summers within 20 hours from diphtheria, all schools were closed and public gatherings prohibited in an effort to prevent the spread of the malady.

MOTHER, SON DYING FROM FALL ON ROCKS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Attempting to save her 9-year-old son who slipped from the railing of the Linda Vista bridge, Arroyo Seco, Mrs. Thomas P. Rochester, 32, fell with the boy to the rocks 80 feet below.

Evils of Catarrh; Keep the Nose Clear

A GREAT many people do not get as much air as they need, because there is some obstruction in the nose. They struggle along without an abundance of oxygen, apparently unconscious of the fact that the nasal passages are so interfered with that the quantity of air taken is much below the amount needed.

DR. COPELAND

There is hardly a part of North America where the citizens are free from what we call "catarrhal troubles." Catarrh is found everywhere and catarrh is responsible chiefly for nasal obstruction.

What is catarrh? Anything which results in an abnormal secretion of mucous membranes, wherever they are found in the body, is known to the medical profession as catarrh. When this term is applied to trouble in the nose, however, it is given a wider meaning than I have here indicated.

There is a trouble given the popular name "dry catarrh." Of course, this is a misnomer, because the word "catarrh" indicates a flow of mucus, so there could not be such a thing as a flow of mucus and at the same dryness of the tissues.

Then, too, we often meet a disturbance of the nose where there is obstruction to the breathing without any increase or decrease in the secretion of mucus. This trouble is also associated with the condition termed as "catarrh."

I think it may be said in all truth that practically all disturbances of the nose which end in any catarrhal trouble can be traced back to repeated colds.

If for any reason whatever a person has one cold after another, the tissues inside the nose become thickened. This thickness may increase gradually, but after a while it becomes so pronounced that it acts really as a plug to interfere with the intake of air.

Inside the nose are three shelves of bone, called the "turbinated bones." Overlying these bones, passing over the top of each shelf, around the edge and underneath it, and then reflected upon the next shelf, and so on, is mucous membrane.

In long continued catarrh, this membrane becomes increased in thickness until the nose is obstructed as I have indicated.

When the trouble has been well established, it may be necessary for the nose specialist to snare out a little of this tissue. He does this not so much with the idea of removing material which obstructs the nasal passage, as for the purpose of providing a certain amount of scar tissue.

This scar tissue contracts and binds down the mucous membrane. It acts much as the quilting procedure does where the yarn binds the two surfaces of the bed quilt together. You can see that this procedure will do away with the possibility of swelling of the tissues when the next cold comes, and so will help to remove the obstruction.

On another occasion I will tell you more about the causes and treatment of catarrhal troubles.

Answers to Health Queries

M. G. Q.—I have been told that I am anemic. What foods should I eat the most of in order to improve my health?

A.—I would suggest that you add to your diet liver and beef juices in addition to plenty of fresh green vegetables.

C. P. Q.—My mother has frequent sharp pains above her right eyes, at the side of her temple and if she blows her nose hard a little blood comes out. Her nose runs freely and is not dry. What do you advise for her?

A.—Your mother is probably troubled with nasal catarrh. This requires special treatment. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Fay King Wonders at Girls' Careers on Stage

By FAY KING

A LITTLE ballet dancer whirls upon the stage! She spins about in the mellow lights. Scarcely have you adjusted yourself to her lithesome movements when she is bowing herself into the wings and it's all over!

Surely this must be an ideal career to spring as light as swan's-down before a large and appreciative audience and glide about for a few minutes a vision of loveliness to such inspiring music!

But in that brief time she turns upon her satin toes—I seem to see visions of the lanky child that clutched the bar at the ballet school. The child that poised for hours on hours upon those tired little toes!

I see the class—rows and rows of children in scant China silk dancing dresses—practicing while the mothers sit in a row along the wall riveting their eagle eyes upon their own young hopefuls. In each clumsy gesture of the little sparrows, the graces of the swans-to-be!

I seem to see the shabby rooms and meager meals that were entirely obliterated by their golden dreams and high hopes of future fame and fortune!

And then the endless disappointments! The hot tears shed when hard-boiled agents dismissed their talents!

And then at last the big chance that meant success or failure!

And if success—a longer road of struggle. For the real struggle sometimes only begins with success!

To hold that place at the top is often harder than to achieve it!

And eventually that last struggle to continue what long ago should have finished!

Sometimes, I think if women were half as determined in the success of their marriages as they are in the success in other careers, there would never be such a thing as an unsuccessful marriage!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THESE DE-NATURED MODERN LOVERS

A MAN used to tell a girl that he loved her, before trying to kiss her. Now he takes the precaution to assure her that he DOESN'T love her, before "consenting" to kiss her.

In order to survive what the modern youth calls his love-making, a girl's lipstick must be kiss-proof, her emotions shock-proof, and her vanity bullet-proof.

HELEN ROWLAND

According to a debutante, the only way a girl can get a man to "rush" her these days, is to send her father's car for him, meet him at the door and tie him to the divan.

Most of the laws that make marriage look so binding, are the "unwritten laws" that are never mentioned in the contract.

There is nothing absolute about love. What is "love" to a college boy would seem like burlesque to a polished philanderer; and what is love to a poet would seem like paranoia to a hard-boiled business man.

In every model husband, there lurks somewhere a dead Don Juan, whose wraith steals back to haunt him, with the coming of the new spring moon.

The only thing more striking about this unromantic age, than the average man's casual, "You-may-kiss me" attitude, is the beautiful humility with which the average girl accepts it.

The trouble with the average marriage is that it contains too many "Gimmes" and too few "Thank yous."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, February 28

If he gets only money from his labor, he is underpaid no matter how great his wage.—GLEN BUCK.

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual configurations this day offers many excellent advantages for one who can resist the opposing force of Saturn opposition Luna. This brings dogged obstructions and obstacles, making for postponements and disappointments. The finances are fortified but the employment is in jeopardy. Personal affairs bring much liveliness and happiness.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which determination and perseverance may win much in the way of substantial benefit, success and personal happiness. But be not discouraged at postponements and do not jeopardize the employment.

A child born on this day should be clever, versatile and have much general ability, but it may need to work with determination and persistency to surmount many obstacles to success.

Notable Nativity: Geraldine Farrar, opera singer.

For Flaky Potatoes

Potatoes should never be put on the table in a covered dish, as they absorb their own moisture and become sodden.

FOR THE LOVELORN

Broken-Hearted

DEAR MISS GALE:

Please give me some of your wonderful advice. I am a girl 15 and motherless. I take care of my home for my father and three brothers, but what is bothering me is that I do not get any freedom. Miss Gale I am leading a dogs life. I get beaten severely if I forget just a small thing. I have no friends of either sex for I am guarded not to escape at nights. I have tried to talk it over with father but in spite of all my pleadings I was beaten even more severely than ever before and if I have to lead this life much longer I will die in disgrace. BROKEN-HEARTED.

My dear, you should certainly appeal to the authorities for protection against such a life. Haven't you a kind, motherly neighbor you could talk it over with and ask for aid?

"Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many cathartic compounds. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. In their effects upon the bowel and its lining membranes they are far less irritating. Indeed, many have qualities that make them soothing and healing. Sugar-coated pills are pleasant to take, which may add to their danger. They are no less habit-forming and drastic because they appeal to the taste."

Pirates in Drills

TO GO UNDER BAT

When the Pirates received Pete Scott, an outfielder, from the Cubs, along with Sparky Adams, a much-needed second baseman, in the trade whereby Ki-ki Cuyler left the local club at the end of last season, the fans wondered what the Bucs were going to do with Pete, inasmuch as they were well supplied with outfield material. But, ah—the plot thickens! Pete has had some experience as a catcher and the Pirates are grooming him for a receiver's berth.

PIRATES START WEEK OF HARD DRILLS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Feb. 27.—With the Waner boys, Joe Harris, Joe Cronin and Dick Bartell prancing around the ball orchard, the Pirate camp took on real baseball color this morning in the first two scheduled workouts for the day.

Donie Bush looks forward to a great week of preparation as he directed his increased galaxy of diamond luminaries. The second squad is due to reach Paso Robles tomorrow evening and the fireworks will begin in earnest Wednesday morning.

The pepper of the camp went from a moderate point to a high degree today. The radical change in the enthusiasm was due to the arrival from San Francisco last night of Bartell, Cronin and Lloyd Waner. The least known of the trio sent the mercury a-flying toward the top. Dare Devil Dick, the fightingest kid in last year's camp, who subsequently starred for New Haven, bounced off a train with his characteristic zip and this morning he was the same screaming, shouting boy who pepped up everybody one year ago.

There is nothing offensive about the exuberance of Bartell. He is polite and well bred. But the call of baseball just throws him wide open. His high pitched voice is heard above the din, the fungo hitting and general clamour. The youth certainly is a welcome addition to the tribe, for it means the dull moments are passed.

The day brought the initial workout to the Waner boys, Cronin and Bartell, but all four seemed to be close to perfect condition. Cronin has kept himself active in coaching Sacred Heart High School of San Francisco, which institution graduated him several years ago. Joe directed his club

ICE CLUB OFFERED ROY BY WENER

By CARL W. SHATTO.

ROY D. SCHOOLEY, the father of modern hockey here, may relieve I. O. Wener of Philadelphia of the option he now holds on the local franchise and players in the National Hockey League and keep big league hockey in Pittsburgh.

Roy Schooley.

While Wener and Frank Calder, president of the National League, were in Pittsburgh Saturday, a local man armed with the option visited Schooley and attempted to interest him in the matter of taking over the local club. The local man, in no way connected with the organization now controlling the ice Pirates, represented himself as being associated with Wener in the present hockey deal. Schooley, in telling the Sun-Telegraph of the conference, said:

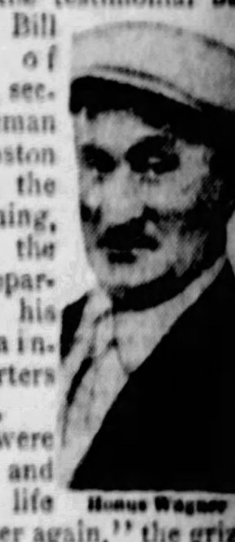
SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

HONUS WAGNER, one of baseball's immortals, spoke at the testimonial banquet for Bill Regan of Brookline, second baseman of the Boston Red Sox, the other evening, prior to the latter's departure for his club's training quarters in Florida.



Honus Wagner

"If I were young and had my life to live over again," the grizzled veteran said, "I would turn to baseball again for a career. Conditions are much better now than when I broke into the game, but I have no regrets. Under any conditions I would turn to baseball again."

That's quite a vote of confidence and a tribute to the game, coming from such a fine character as the 54-year-young Flying Dutchman.

WAGNER recalled some of the old days, when baseball was a tough profession for even the hardiest. His reminiscenses were interesting. Then he switched up to the present and touched on the world series in which the Pirates took it on the chin for four straight defeats by the slugging Yankees last fall.

"Here is how the world series of 1927 comes back to me as I review the events in my mind," Honus said. "The Yankees had it on the Pirates by a considerable margin. They had the edge at five of the nine positions on the diamond, and held their own at two others, leaving the Pirates an advantage at only two. In pitching, catching and at first base, New York was superior, and the same was true at shortstop and in right field, where Babe Ruth held forth.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

LEST anyone harbor the mistaken belief that Players Sammy Bohne and Pat Duncan were on trial for crooked ball playing in their recent Federal Court suit, thus reflecting discredit upon the game of baseball, President John A. Heydler, of the National League, sets forth the facts in the case in a letter to The Sun-Telegraph.

John A. Heydler

The league chief points out that this case was just the opposite; that Bohne and Duncan were the plaintiffs, not the defendants, and that they were completely vindicated and awarded damages in an action against a weekly sports publication that had attacked them as being in collusion with gamblers while members of the Cincinnati club in 1922.

IN his letter to this paper, President Heydler writes:

"In August, 1923, a Chicago

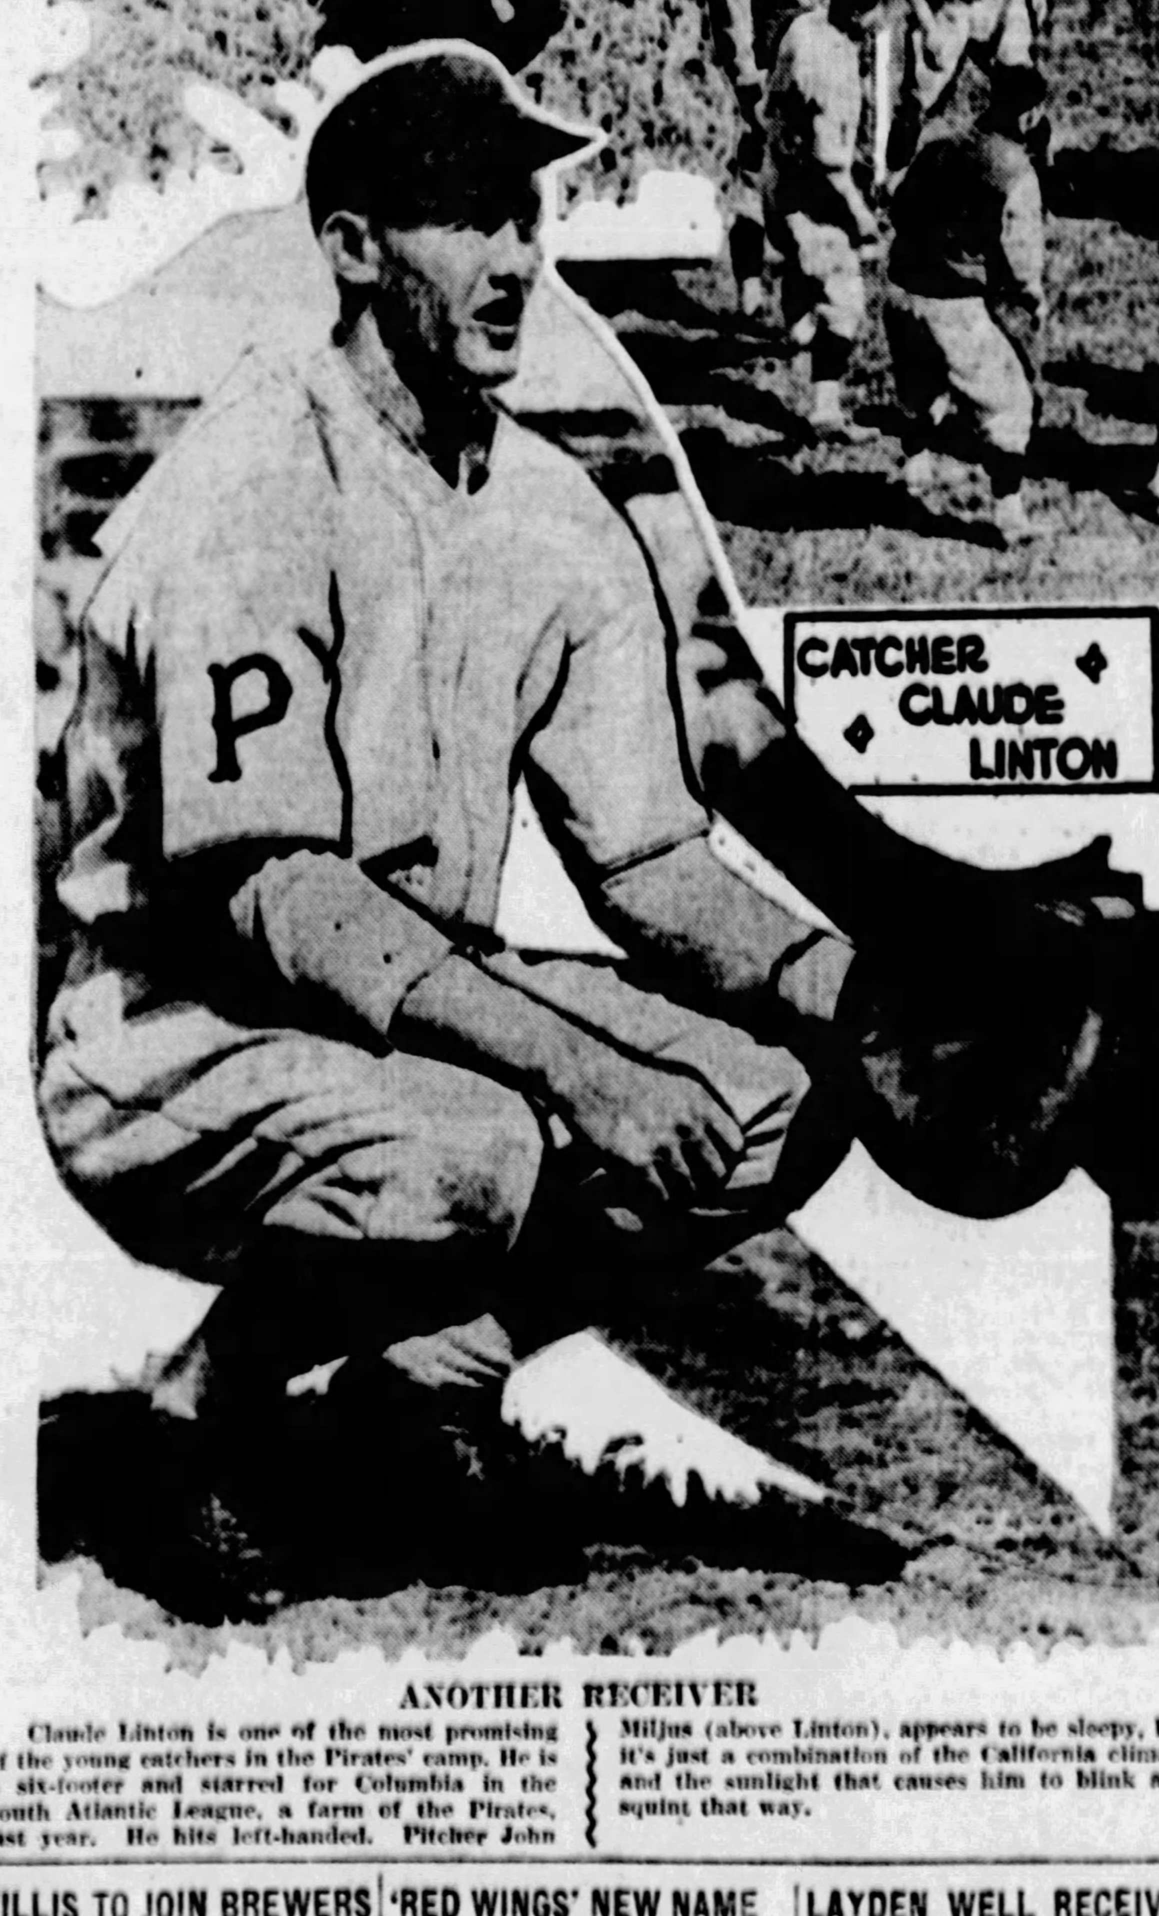
FINE EXERCISE

There's nothing like the ol' medicine ball to loosen up the muscles before the hard grind of spring training begins in earnest. Here are two groups of the Pirates' advance squad tossing about the heavy leather spheroid just for exercise.



ANOTHER RECEIVER

Claude Linton is one of the most promising of the young catchers in the Pirates' camp. He is a six-footer and starred for Columbia in the South Atlantic League, a farm of the Pirates, last year. He hits left-handed. Pitcher John Miljus (above Linton), appears to be sleepy, but it's just a combination of the California climate and the sunlight that causes him to blink and squint that way.

SCHOOL QUINTS AFTER TITLES

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

Championship (and only championship) basketball remains of interest in the scholastic sport world at this writing. Tomorrow afternoon Fifth Avenue High School and Allegheny High School clash in the downtown school's gym in the first argument of a series which will decide the City Senior League crownholder. Fifth Avenue concluded its season by setting down South on Saturday night to cinch its Section 1 title.

And on Wednesday night the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League opens its fight among the 10 sectional champions for the district titleholder. Fifth Avenue High is in this wrangle, too, being the only City League team qualified. In the opening embroglio, Duquesne and Dormont will have it out. Duquesne copped in Section 7 and Dormont in Section 9. The game will be contested in the Pitt Stadium pavilion. The following Monday will see the second act in this sensational play. And so on it will continue until the climax is reached March 16.

Fifth Avenue High School's junior team won the Section 1, City Junior League championship last Saturday night when it ousted South, a close contender for the honor.

Army Five to Play Pitt Here in' 29

By JESS CARVER.

THE West Point basketball team will come to Pittsburgh to play Pitt in the Stadium Pavilian court next season and the quintest will clash again in New York in 1930. The teams met recently at West Point. Negotiations for the two-year contract have been on for some time and are scheduled to culminate in the signing some time this week.

Doc Carlson's Panthers, still undefeated, started preparations for the final home game of the card. This contest will be played Thursday night with Grove City as the opposition. It it the game the boys have been looking forward to ever since the Crimson came here last year, and Robert Methuselah Thorn sitting the bench with a grin a mile wide on his pan, knocked the Panthers for a 31-28 row.

Pitt won its seventeenth victory in a row Saturday, defeating Wash-Jeff by the simple expedient of scoring enough points in the first half to put the Wash-Jeffers hopelessly in the rear. The Panther didn't look overly impressive in the victory, but then, he didn't have to.

It might be noted here and now that Pitt cannot afford to lose a single game from now on if the district title is to be won. Westminster has won nine out of 10 games from district teams, and there is little chance of the U. P.'s being beaten. If Pitt loses to Grove City, West Virginia or Wash-Jeff, the victories scored by the locals will fall just one short of being enough to put the Panthers out in front in the percentage column.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 27.—Charley Willis, for two years a member of Connie Mack's pitching department, who finished up last season with the Milwaukee Brewers, will depart tomorrow for Hot Springs, Ark., that club's training camp. Willis has spent the off season at his home near Martinsburg and has kept in fine physical condition by playing basketball.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The Rochester Club of the International League, owned by the St. Louis Cardinals, will be known as the "Red Wings" during the season of 1928, Warren C. Giles, president of the club announced today.

MANDELL'S PURSE FOR BOUT SOARS

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—The one right-hand punch to the chin of Sid Terris that brought $20,000 last Friday night to Jimmy McLarnin, California lightweight, may bring four times that amount to Sammy Mandell, the champion. With his services in increasing demand by two rival promoters, Tex Rickard and Jim Mullen, it appeared likely today that Mandell will receive a flat guarantee of at least $80,000 for defending his title against McLarnin.

Mullen says he has Mandell under contract. Rickard has tied up McLarnin and the champion is perched in the golden seat while Chicago and New York keep raising the ante. Eddie Kane, Mandell's manager, will confer with Rickard here this week.

SHOTS and PASSES
by Julius Levin

THE Sumer Somermans and the Sianos, each having a remote chance to overtake the E. P. Junkers, leaders in the second half of the P. & O. League race, lock horns at Columbus Temple tonight determined to survive elimination.

The Junkers, who have set the pace in the second round virtually from the start, all but clinched the laurels last Saturday by swamping the B. L. Succops of the South Side, but the Somermans and Sianos nevertheless still believe they are capable of passing the Tubers.

The contest tonight brings together two natural rivals capable of playing first-class basketball. If their game tonight is a repetition of their early-season clashes, followers of the two teams are going to witness a close and hard-fought battle.

The Sianos have a double incentive to lead them on tonight, one to remain in the fight for the title and the other to get revenge for a defeat suffered at the hands of the Somermans the last time they met.

Going through with his policy of booking only the strongest attractions, Bill Magidson, manager of the Goldensons, has made arrangements to meet the crack McKeesport Cyclers at the Market House next Friday night. Victors over the leading teams in this section, as well as the Cleveland Rosenblums and the Fort Wayne Knights of Columbus, the Cyclers should pack the spacious South Side Market House.

THE Broadway Club plans to finish its season playing independent basketball despite the disruption of the Allegheny County League, according to Bill Schuster, manager of the Beechview aggregation.

Robert Cannefax, Former Cue Champ, Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Robert L. Cannefax, former world's champion three cushions billiardist, died today at Phoenix, Ariz., according to word received by friends in this city. He had been in ill health for some time.

Until his health forced his retirement from the game two years ago Bob Cannefax had been a championship figure at three-cushion billiards for fully 10 years.

He first won the world's championship in 1920, but lost it to John Layton, of Sedalia, Mo. After Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, Mo., had taken a turn at the top, Cannefax regained the title in 1923, only to lose it to Layton and then regain it in 1924. That year Cannefax defeated Layton in the final of the championship round-robin.

Cannefax continued to rule the three-cushion field in 1925 except for a brief period when Frank Taberski, Schenectady, N. Y., veteran, staged a come-back. Cannefax was challenged in 1925 by Willie Hoppe, then the balkline king, to a special three-cushion match, but it was never held.

Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, succeeded Cannefax as three-cushion champion.

PIRATES

Saturday with the aid of Sprout Waner, who remained over as Joe's guest.

The early arrival of the infielders and outfielders has caused Bush to vary his program somewhat. The routine followed by the pitchers and catchers in the first few days will be changed to allow the newcomers to get in some licks. The manager was glad when Joe Harris put in an early appearance. Shortly after Joe got here messages were sent to others who are in California instructing them to report for today's workout.

PLAYERS GET REST

Sunday was a day of rest and relaxation. Many of the players attended church during the day and partook of golf and sightseeing. Denie Bush and Sam Dreyfuss were among a large group that journeyed by automobile to the extensive ranch owned by William Randolph Hearst, located at San Simeon, which is less than two hours away from the training camp. This tour was thoroughly enjoyed.

Roy Mahaffey is the only pitcher with a sore arm. The Southern boy has taken some treatment from Trainer Asten and he hopes to be ready to go ahead with the others today. Mahaffey has not missed any sessions, but he did little throwing Saturday.

Charlie Gooch, cousin of Johnny Gooch and third baseman of the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League, came here to visit with John, not knowing of the trouble that had come into the catcher's home.

Johnny's mother died last week and the time of his arrival here is somewhat indefinite. His cousin left Tennessee some time ago. At the present time he is negotiating with the Hollywood owners on his 1928 contract and may sign soon. Johnny previously had secured permission to come to camp with the second squad.

Signalmen Cop Replay

By TOM BIRKS.

THE entrance of the Bridgeville Owls into the final of the Junior West Penn Cup by eliminating Primrose by 2 goals to 1 score at Heidelberg; the second victory of Swissvale over the Harmarville eleven by a 4 goals to 3 score in a replay national amateur cup game, and the victory of the German Sport club by a 3 goals to 1 score at Turner Park were the highlights of the local soccer card in the district yesterday, together with a sensational game won by McKeesport National Tube, who just nosed out the Douglas eleven in an International League game by 1 goal to 0 score.

The Switch and Signal team's victory over Harmarville in the national amateur tourney means that it meets the Clan McPherson outfit in the next round of the competition. Swissvale was easily the best team. The outstanding feature of the game was the brilliant display of Smelko playing at a wing.

M'GINN IN GOOD FORM

McGinn was in good form for Harmarville and scored the first two goals. Brown of Swissvale, scored the winning goal in the closing minutes of play.

The Owls and Primrose had a great battle at Heidelberg in the junior semi-final. Bridgeville won, but it was one of the best junior games staged in many a day. The fine day brought out a good crowd.

The German Sport Club put the quietus on Mustard Hollow in the American League. The Sport Club found its shooting boots for this game and three big markers soon found the net.

In the Douglas-National Tube session it was left for Murphy to be the hero after one of the Douglas defenders had saved a goal by punching out the ball. Murphy took the kick and scored.

It is very evident that the closing of the Curry grounds to soccer football did not do very much to curb that militant spirit among a certain section of the Curry fans. This spirit was again in evidence at the West Penn semi-final on Saturday when decisions of Referee Hamilton did not please the ardent followers of the International team.

It is a pity that a few radicals can still get a town a bad name. Especially when one considers stalwarts like Tommy Craig and Johnny Mutsko were on the side lines with nothing to say.

FORMERLY WITH CURRY

Both these boys made their names in Curry soccer and were members of one of the greatest teams that ever played. That last five minutes spectacle of a horde of International supporters walking slowly across the playing field was anything but edifying, and came in for a lot of unfavorable comment that might be brought up when Curry teams are trying to get into first class leagues.

The writer has a warm spot in his heart for Curry, and players like the Bookie boys, Kishmann, Charlie Powell and Ed Powell, together with Tommy Craig and Capt. Mutsko, and after handling some of the toughest games ever played in Curry when Castle Shannon, Sturgeon, Morgan and Dunlevy were powers in local soccer, takes exception to this method of supporting a team.

DeMarco's exhibitions have been inconsistent, to say the least. However, there is an undercurrent of feeling that Cuddy MAY upset the dope and win. There is little question that he possesses the ability to come through, but the men who wager their money do so on form and the form sheet says he should run second to the visitor.

Both Cuddy and Harmon knocked off training yesterday after a hard siege of more than a week with this one match in mind. Both were confident of victory, Cuddy even more so than Harmon.

CUDDY PREDICTS VICTORY

"I'll show the fans I can fight when I have to," Cuddy said as he hung up his training duds in the Motor Square gym. "I've surprised them before, against Jack Zivic and other opponents, and I know Harmon is another baby I can beat. I'm not boasting, but I'm stating it as a fact that I expect to win."

The bout probably will draw the largest crowd of the season to date at Motor Square. Harmon's two victories over Young Saylor and Jack Zivic in the same ring in recent months are still fresh in the minds of the fans and they have been gobbling up seats at a brisk clip.

Harry Taylor and Young Rudy, keen lightweight rivals, will stage another of their series of hard bouts in the eight-round windup. Jackie Murray, Negro of Center avenue, who recently substituted on an hour's notice in a main bout at McKeesport and made good against Mickey Solmen of New Castle, and Jess Hoak of McKeesport box the second bout, while the opener will be between Johnny Riley of Homestead, who defeated Eddie Jiggers last week, and Danny Stewart, Negro, of Wiley avenue.

The boxers on the card weighed in in the Motor Square gym at 3 o'clock.

by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

There was little to choose between the teams at second base and in middle field, and only in left field and at third base, with Barnhart and Traynor holding down these points, did the Pirates excel. Is it any wonder that New York won as it did?"

THIS is a week of much activity out in Los Angeles as C. C. Pyle's host of Marathon runners prepares for the big take-off on the cross-country hike, which is scheduled for next Sunday. The run will consume more than two months and there is much to be done in the feverish last few days before the start, although elaborate preparations already have been made.

Pittsburgh will have at least three men and perhaps more in the race. They are Bill Busch of Millvale, one of the favorites, in view of the fact that he crossed the continent alone last summer, Percy Smallwood, veteran runner, and Mike Joyce, another favorite of years ago.

C. C. Pyle

THE runners in the event reported to Pyle on February 13 and have been in training ever since to prime them for the first hard stages of the endurance grind of some 3,400 miles. The route from Los Angeles to Chicago will be over U. S. Highway 66 and the itinerary from Chicago to New York is to be announced some time this week. The winner will receive a cash prize of $25,000 and the prizes total $48,500, with additional contracts for the leaders.

The ingenious Pyle has conceived various methods of making his race pay him big dividends. He is receiving $100,000 in one lump sum to have his runners follow the route from Los Angeles to Chicago to advertise that highway, and that is only about one-third of what his income will be from this source on the complete trek. Other sums will come from advertising the food the runners will eat, the shoes they will wear, the mattresses on which they will rest at the control stations each night, the liniment with which their muscles will be massaged, the preparations they will use on their blistered feet and the eye-shades that will protect them from the sun, and other articles that will be used all will bring their bonuses from manufacturers, who expect to reap a harvest from the publicity that the run will receive. Pyle estimates 20,000,000 persons will see the runners in action and will note the articles that will be advertised for pay. A portable radio broadcasting station will accompany the runners. It will have a radius of 500 miles and the announcer will keep up a running fire of talk about the race and intersperse comment boosting the by-products that call for advertising.

THE race will start from the Ascot Speedway and wind up in the Yankee Stadium in New York. It is estimated that the runners will average about 55 miles a day. They will start out in a bunch at 7 o'clock each morning and will be allowed until midnight to finish. The earlier they reach each day's control station the longer they will be able to rest before the next day's grind. Thus the caravan will be kept bunched and will not be a go-as-you-please affair. Spotters will patrol the course in automobiles to prevent the contestants from stealing rides and checkers will time them each day. The winner will be decided on an elapsed time basis. After the race is over, Pyle will give exhibitions in many cities, featuring the leaders.

Thus what appeared to be the fantastic dream of a promoter who started out with Red Grange as his sole attraction and ran a shoe string into a fortune has become a reality and promises to be a very profitable and interesting one.

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

weekly used the names and pictures of Duncan and Bohne, and attacked these players by inference, suggestion and innuendo as being in collusion with gamblers.

"Immediately following this publication I held a hearing in New York, attended by the two players and by Cincinnati newspaper men.

"While the charges against Bohne and Duncan, as a result of that hearing and further investigation, appeared silly and unfounded, yet their reputations and livelihood were at stake.

"I suggested they bring civil and criminal action against this paper. I also urged the Cincinnati club, which was damaged by the attack, to take similar action. A court investigation, I felt, would quickly clear an innocent player, and it would also bring out much to give weight to charges against a guilty player.

Sammy Bohne

"WHAT we wanted was the truth, and the only way to ascertain the truth was through process of civil law.

"For more than four years the trial of this case was delayed. In the meantime, Bohne and Duncan had passed out as major league players; but they never quit in their efforts to prosecute, and to vindicate their good names.

"On Tuesday last, before Federal Judge Lindsay, this Chicago sporting weekly had a chance to produce its alleged evidence against these players. It failed so absolutely that the jury, by instructions, brought in a verdict declaring the article a libel, and awarded Bohne and Duncan damages.

"THE 1922 conclusions of our baseball court were, therefore fully confirmed by this recent finding of the United States Court.

"The game deals harshly enough with those players who defile it. Why not give credit to honest players, who battled for nearly five years to win their vindication?

"Bohne and Duncan have not been hurt, and the game has not been hurt. The players established their honesty, and the game has established the principle that it not only favors clean baseball, but that it pays to go out and fight for clean baseball!"

Pat Duncan.

JOHN McGRAW'S statement that the contract offered Vic Aldridge by the Giant management called for $1,000 more than did the document tendered to him for 1928 by the Pittsburgh club, does not mean that New York was willing to pay the hurler $1,000 more than he received here last year.

On the contrary it is doubtful if New York offered Aldridge as much as he drew down in Pittsburgh in 1927, for it is understood that the Pittsburgh club cut the figures in Vic's contract for this year because he refused to sign one containing a clause that would assure his being in better condition throughout the season.

McGraw evidently is only making a little grandstand play to give fandom an exaggerated idea of the liberality of the New York club. He could raise Aldridge's salary figures considerably more than $1,000 and yet would not be paying Vic as much as the hurler received here last year.

FEW persons are giving much thought to track and field sports at this early date, but Coach Frank Shea has had his Pitt squad hard at work indoors for several weeks in preparation for the spring competitive season.

A feature of the Panther workouts is the manner in which Gibby Welch, star of the football team for three years, is showing up.

Gibby Welch.

Welch has his heart set on making the United States Olympic team and is working in tireless fashion to attain the best shape possible, even playing basketball on the Phi Gamma Delta team in the Inter Fraternity League.

GIBBY'S showing in the indoor weight works is making his Olympic team chances look better with each succeeding day. Though he is aiming particularly for discus throwing honors he is overlooking nothing that may help his general condition.

This splendid all-around form is attested by the fact that a few days ago he hung up a new indoor record at Pitt by putting the shot 43 feet 6 inches. He has done 45 feet outdoors, but the "forty-three-six" is the best mark ever made by anyone indoors at the local university.

THE unbeaten Panthers are one step nearer a perfect record for the basketball season as a result of insinuated that outside interests were willing to take over the Pittsburgh hockey club, and he suggested that I align myself with these interests, assist in the organization of the group and keep the club in Pittsburgh. He pointed out that the proposed new town hall could be made the club's home in a short time, and that the town hall would need hockey as a source of revenue even as hockey would need the town hall.

MAY KEEP CLUB HERE

"I answered that so long as the plan was to keep the club in Pittsburgh, local interests, rather than outside interests, should be considered, and told him that if the proposition was fair and the price right, Pittsburgh men interested in hockey probably would be willing to buy Wener's holdings and keep the franchise and players here.

"Before I would be willing to take any action looking toward keeping the club here under new ownership, however, I would want to be certain that Duquesne Garden would be available for National League games for at least two or three years. There is no assurance as yet that a town hall will be built here, and even though the voters are prompt in authorizing its construction, it would be at least three years before the town hall would be available for hockey play.

LARRY BENTON.

"All cards must be on the table before I will consider definite action. I cannot make any move to keep the club here so long as the identity of the man with whom I must deal is clouded by conflicting statements (Horace Townsend, present owner of the Pirates, has repeatedly denied that Wener holds an option on the franchise and players); I must have the assurance of league officials that such a transfer would meet with their approval; I must have assurance that Duquesne Garden will be available for league games for a few years, and the terms of sale must be explicit and fair. There will be no opportunity for action until all uncertainty is eliminated."

OPTION EXPIRES MAY 1

Although Schooley did not reveal the details of the option, it was learned that it is for $125,000 (rather than $150,000, as originally reported), and that it expires May 1. Therefore, if Wener is to realize a profit, he must exercise his option before that date.

Because Schooley is generally regarded as the man who did most to put local hockey on a high plane, there is no doubt but that his return to active leadership here would meet with the approval of both Pittsburgh fandom and the National League. Knowledge of the game and its players, plus the ability to exercise this knowledge, enabled him to build up the ice sport here, and his fair, intelligent dealings won for him the admiration of hockey's leaders.

The absence of big league hockey from Pittsburgh, Schooley said, probably will not be for any extended period even if the franchise and players are transferred to some other city. A second big ice league, to rival the present National League, is to be organized soon, he hinted, and Pittsburgh, deprived of membership in the present loop, probably would be willing to accept a berth in the new circuit. Schooley insinuated that, failing to keep big league hockey here, he would sponsor a move to bring it back as soon as possible.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE SOON

Wener left Pittsburgh after conferring with Schooley and President Calder Saturday night, but the former is to return this week to renew negotiations looking toward the disposal of his option. Provided Schooley and Wener fail to come to terms, it is likely that franchise and players will be sold into Cleveland. The league rules specify that Cleveland shall be given the first opportunity to take over a franchise that is to be sold from one city into another, and with President Calder on the job there is no doubt but that the league rules will be observed.

The duty of the committee recently appointed by National Hockey League directors, it is rumored, is to see that new Pittsburgh interests, and Cleveland, are given first opportunities to purchase the Pirates for a fair price.

Business Fairly Good, Unemployment Rate Up.

By B. C. FORBES

IN THE SOUTH, Feb. 27.

HOW'S business? What's the political outlook? These are constantly asked questions. In the South politics appear to be occasioning quite as much discussion as business. What are the answers?

THUS far I have been across the continent, as far North and West as Seattle, down the Pacific Coast, as far South as the Mexican border.

Business, viewed as a whole, can be described as fairly good.

Agricultural conditions, by and large, can be described in similar language.

THE most unfortunate feature is the existence of more or less unemployment.

The causes for this perhaps are in part fundamental rather than temporary. First, the nation's productive capacity was outrunning the nation's—and the world's—ability to consume. The word "ability" is used in preference to the word "capacity," because the world unquestionably has adequate capacity to consume everything being produced, but it does not have the ability to earn the purchase price.

Second, the increasing number of women joining the ranks of earners, often in direct competition with men, is another basic factor which must be more and more taken into reckoning. Indeed, a newspaper squib from New York states that numbers of men have taken to staying at home to do the housework because it is easier for the wives to find jobs. There may be more truth than humor in that statement.

Third, millions of men have given up farming and drifted into cities.

THESE observations are inspired by the fact that the discovery of unemployment in not a few places has caused great astonishment. Loud demands by the unemployed for civic or other public assistance have been the first intimation of the ugly truth in several cities. "I thought business was fairly good. I had no idea there was any unusual idleness" is the gist of many comments from ordinary citizens.

Letters addressed to me by unemployed have been terribly bitter. One writer starts off: "You big fat leech why don't you curl up and die—do that or tell the public the truth that there are 50,000 unemployed in this city." That Bolshevism has not vanished is abundantly emphasized by the sentiments expressed by unemployed.

WE ARE at an awkward stage of a national, world-wide economic revolution. We have learned to produce faster than the world can buy. Multiplication of machinery has released millions of workers, and not enough new fields of industry or other forms of enterprise have opened up to absorb them.

Hence it is that the extent of unemployment hardly gives a fair indication of the actual state of trade and industry.

The latter, as already stated, are fairly good. The best results are shown by the strongest—usually the largest—concerns. This is especially true in the field of merchandising. It is becoming harder and harder for the small independent merchant to make ends meet. Smaller industrial concerns are often finding themselves in the same unpleasant position.

Let me hasten to add that a slightly more cheerful attitude is setting in. The steel industry is still regarded as the most trustworthy barometer in most parts of the country, and the improvement in it is hailed as peculiarly significant and encouraging. The vigor shown by the motor industry is also having a stimulating influence on sentiment.

In short, rather good spring demand is now looked for.

EVEN in the South, where religion is a much more staple theme than in the East, the prevalent expectation is that Governor Smith will be nominated. Senator Jim Reed of Missouri is being boomed to some extent, but his chances are regarded as slim in comparison with Al Smith's. Governor Dan Moody of Texas is widely spoken of as an extremely advisable choice for second place on the Democratic ticket. He is almost universally described as a popular, able, honest—and a true-blue Southerner worthy of high honor.

Incidentally, I find unmistakable growth of Republican sentiment in certain parts of the South. My guess is that "the solid South" will ere long become only a tradition.

Hoover is generally preferred in the South and far West as Republican candidate. California is strong for him and so are Southern states that benefited by his excellent flood work. But from what I gathered before leaving the East and Middle West, Dawes will have to be reckoned with at the crucial moment.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Clearing house statement: Exchanges, $890,000,000; balances, $147,000,000; Federal Reserve bank credit balance, $141,000,000.

STEEL TOUCHES LOW FOR YEAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The stock market went through a secondary reaction today in which U. S. Steel common and several other popular industrials touched new low levels for the year. Early declines ran from 1 to 6 points, with the pool specialties bearing the brunt of the selling pressure. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume.

Speculative disappointment over the slow pick-up of spring business and continued uneasiness over the brokers' loan and industrial unemployment situations were the chief factors behind the selling movement. Call money opened unchanged at 4¼ per cent, but banks called more than $10,000,000 in loans before midday, presumably in anticipation of heavy month-end requirements. In view of the heavy government financing and the approach of March 15 income tax payments, Wall street looks for a disturbed money market during the next fortnight.

U. S. Steel common dropped to a new low at 138¼ after an ineffectual attempt to hold it above the old low of 138½. Montgomery-Ward sold off 4 points to 128⅝, as against a high of 149⅞ last month. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe broke 6 points on selling presumably inspired by the stiff foreign competition in the cast iron pipe industry. Greene Cananea Copper dipped nearly 6 points, but held above the old low of 112. Air Reduction, Collins & Aikman, Vanadium Steel and Gold Dust all fell 4 points or more. On the other hand, Adams Express soared 10 points, and the Kresge Department Store issues moved into new high ground.

Except for 2-point reactions in Wabash and Canadian Pacific, the rails offered good resistance to selling pressure.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Big receipts of corn today brought about an early downturn of corn values and led also to lower prices for wheat. Continued unfavorable wheat crop reports from the central west had only a transient influence on the wheat market. Opening unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower, corn subsequently underwent a general sag. Wheat started ⅛c off to ⅛c up and later receded all around. Oats were steady. Provisions tended to advance.

At noon, wheat was ⅛@1⅛c net higher and corn showing ⅜@½c advance.

Arrival of as much as 85 cars of corn in Chicago today became quickly a dominating factor in the corn market. In some quarters it was asserted that this total represented the last heavy movement of the crop and there was some buying on this basis, but for at least the time being a majority of traders leaned to the bear side of the market, heavy receipts of corn being reported at Kansas City, Omaha and St. Louis, as well as Chicago.

Considerable of today's selling of corn appeared to hinge on gossip that March 1 is tax-gathering time and that numerous holders gave evidence of a desire to transfer ownership before that date. On the other hand, talk was current that feeders had bought more or less corn overnight.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share, payable April 2 to stock of record March 17.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 10 to 16 points today under realizing influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and talk of an easier technical position. May contracts sold off to 18.58c and October to 18.29c, making net declines of about 15 to 17 points.

Prices were within a point or two of the lowest at the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported early hedging had been absorbed by trade calling in Liverpool, but that the market later had eased under local, London, continental and Bombay liquidation. The demand for cotton cloths in Lancashire was said to be well sustained, with an improvement in the demand from South America.

After showing net declines of about 17 to 22 points, May selling down to 18.54c, the market became quiet and steadier. There may have been some selling on talk of an easier tone in the stock market, but after the first half hour offerings were comparatively light and at midday prices showed rallies of 3 or 4 points from the lowest.

Coast Crude Output Lower.

Crude Oil production in California for the week ended February 25 totaled 615,250 barrels, against 617,000 barrels for the previous week.

Spear & Co. Earnings Up.

Spear & Co. report for 1927 a net income of $1,149,726, compared with $562,986 for 1926, equal to $3.35 a share on the common stock, after preferred dividends, against $2.07 in 1926. Sales were $14,935,610, an increase of 11 per cent. Current assets at the close of 1927 were $13,348,219, and current liabilities were $2,911,376. The company has leased a store in Brooklyn for the retail trade, which is expected to be opened April 1. This will be the company's sixth retail store. There are two in New York and three in Pittsburgh.

—I—

New Haven for January.

New Haven Railroad report shows net income of $167,552 after interest, etc., comparing with net loss of $218,336 in 1927. Deficit after guaranteed preferred dividends was $194,380, against $299,536 a year ago.

Large Refunding Announced.

Announcement was made today of one of the largest real estate bond refunding operations of the year, involving the retirement of over $9,900,000 in securities and the issuance of $11,250,000 in 5 per cent bonds. The operation involves the State and Washington buildings—three buildings in the center of the retail shopping district of Chicago. The new bonds are in two series—$10,000,000 Stevens Brothers Corporation first mortgage sinking fund 5 per cent bonds, series A, and $1,250,000 5 per cent sinking fund mortgage bonds, series B. Both of the issues have been sold to a banking group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. and E. H. Rollins & Sons, who will offer them shortly. The principal publicly held securities to be retired are $6,743,600 State and Washington buildings first mortgage 6 per cent bonds.

Corn Products Earned $1.01.

Corn Products Refining Company consolidated net profit was $11,962,255 after interest, depreciation and federal tax for the year 1927, compared with $11,533,441 in 1926. Profit for 1927 is equal after preferred dividends to $1.01 on 2,530,000 common shares.

Reflecting recent advances in price of corn in the commodities market, Corn Products Refining Company has advanced prices on bulk goods 15 cents a hundred pounds. Two other price advances were announced earlier this year, one of 25 and the other of 10 cents, making a total of 50 cents. Prices of package goods are not affected.

Youngstown Operations 80 Per Cent.

Steel mill operations have been established at a full 80 per cent average for the corporation and independent plants in the Youngstown district. There are now in commission 42 of 53 independent open hearths, a gain of two over the past week, and of the 65 corporation and independent units, 57 are busy, the highest output level reached by the industry in nearly a year.

—I—

Delaware and Hudson Net Shrinks.

Delaware and Hudson Railroad net operating income in January amounted to only $35,800, comparing with $126,966 in January, 1927.

—I—

Celanese Rights Offered.

Celanese Corporation of America offers holders of first preferred and common stocks of record March 7 the right to subscribe at $100 per share for 114,318 shares of new 7 per cent $100 par prior preferred in ratio of one share of new preferred for every 10 shares of stock held.

—I—

Railroad Mergers.

Wall Street has about given up hope of any major railroad merger being effected until after Congress has passed new enabling legislation, the prospect for which is considered rather remote at this session. Rejection by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the original "Nickel Plate" and Southwestern merger plans, followed by the complaint Saturday of the manner in which the Kansas City Southern obtained control of the "Katy" and St. Louis Southwestern roads, has convinced many bankers and railroad men that the Interstate Commerce Commission will hold up the proposed realignment of trunk line systems until Congress acts. Revised merger plans of the Van Sweringen and southwestern roads are pending.

—I—

Motor Accessory Outlook.

The Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association reports that first quarter business seems certain to break all records. January business was the largest ever recorded in the first month of the year. February has produced even greater volume and advance schedules indicate further expansion in March.

—I—

Motor Wheel Corporation.

Motor Wheel Corporation reports for year ended December 31, 1927, net income of $1,542,934 after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., equivalent after 8 per cent preferred dividend to $2.70 a share earned on 550,000 shares of no par common stock. This compares with $1,625,051 or $2.81 a share in 1926. The preferred stock was retired in August last year.

—I—

Westinghouse Electric.

Good resistance has been shown in Westinghouse Electric during the reactions. As a result the stock has been put on the lists of many commission houses as one of the issues which can be purchased during sharp reactions in the future. Odd-lot buying has been coming into the stock on setbacks and such a demand is likely to continue during weak periods in the general list.

—I—

Engineers Public Service.

Report of Engineers Public Service Company and subsidiaries for the year ended December 31, 1927, shows profit of $4,207,974 after charges, taxes, preferred dividends of subsidiaries, etc., but before reserves, the same as shown in preliminary statement. After dividend requirements on the preferred stock of $2,173,214 balance available for reserves and 797,240 no par shares of common stock was $4,034,702, against $3,152,874 in 1926.

—I—

Barnet Profits Decline.

Report of Barnet Leather Company, Inc., for year ended December 31, 1927, shows net profit of $132,419 after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., equivalent after 7 per cent preferred dividends to $2.04 a share earned on 40,000 shares of no par common stock. This compares with $273,044 or $5.57 a share in 1926. Net profit for the December quarter was $59,415 after above charges, equal to 55 cents a share on common, comparing with $35,456 or 44 cents a share in preceding quarter and $20,043 or 31 cents a share in December quarter of 1926.

Mack's Dividend Looks Safe.

Notwithstanding the small margin of earnings over dividend requirements last year, interests close to Mack Truck see no immediate danger to the current $6 dividend. Some improvement in the trade is expected during the current year, but the company has adjusted its expenses to a volume of business approximating the 1927 total and on this basis is expected to show a comfortable surplus over dividend requirements. Another factor which will aid the company in maintaining its dividend is the retirement of preferred stock last year. Dividends on the preferred were equal to over $1.10 a share on the common stock. However, as the company borrowed $7,000,000 to complete this financing the savings for the common will be somewhat less than this figure until bank loans are paid off and offsetting interest charges eliminated. It would not be surprising if substantially all the bank borrowings were liquidated this year. The report for the year 1927 showed earnings of $5,844,207 after federal taxes, equal to $6.60 a share on the common.

—I—

American Smelters.

American Smelting and Refining Company has issued its report for the year ended December 31, 1927, showing net income of $15,477,749 after interest, depreciation, depletion and federal taxes, equivalent after preferred dividends to $19.64 a share earned on 609,300 shares of common stock. This compares with $17,760,721 or $23.34 a share in 1926. Surplus after dividends was $7,097,929, comparing with $9,645,871 in previous year and profit and loss surplus totaled $27,647,224 against $24,197,234.

NEW ICE GORGE THREATENS

KITTANNING, Pa., Feb. 27.—Another ice gorge in the Allegheny River, 16 miles in extent and extending from Schenley north to a point just south of Kittanning, is causing some worry. The pack, however, while not extensive as the one of three weeks ago, is growing in size, and the river is backing up slowly. The ice has moved several times, but quickly jams again. North of Kittanning the Allegheny is fairly clear of ice packs, but with large cakes still stranded high along the banks.

H. L. and F. C. GROTE, Attorneys-at-Law, Frick Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.
IN THE Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania. In re application for satisfaction of mortgage. No. 1081, April Term, 1928.
To the Security Building and Loan Association of Homestead, Pa., or whoever may be the holder of said mortgage, take notice:
That Hermann L., Ludwig I. and Frederick C. Grote, trustees under the Deed of Trust of C. H. Grote, have filed a petition in the aforesaid court, at the above number and term, setting forth among other things, that they are the owners of certain real estate situate on Fifteenth avenue, Borough of Homestead, Allegheny county, Pa., bounded and described as follows, to-wit:
Lot No. 20 in the plan of the sub-division of Lot No. 786 in the plan of the Homestead Bank and Life Insurance Company, as recorded in Plan Book Vol. 5, pages 290 and 291, and said sub-division plan in Plan Book Vol. 6, page 239, of the Recorder's Office of Allegheny county, said Lot No. 20 being bounded and described as follows, to-wit:
Beginning on the southeasterly side of Fifteenth Avenue at the distance of 57.50 feet southwardly from the corner of West street, thence extending in front or width on Fifteenth avenue southwardly 25 feet to Lot No. 21 in said sub-division plan; thence along the line of said Lot No. 21 southeastwardly 91.21 feet to land of West; thence along land of said West northwestwardly 25.5 feet to Lot No. 19 in said sub-division plan; thence along the line of said Lot No. 19 northwestwardly 89.54 feet to the place of beginning.
That there appears on the records of the Recorder's Office of Allegheny county against said property an unsatisfied mortgage, originally given by Patrick Sweeney to the Security Building and Loan Association of Homestead, Pa., and is dated May 16, 1891, acknowledged May 16, 1891, and recorded May 21, 1891, in Mortgage Book Vol. 550, page 406.
The said mortgage, which has been paid, still stands in the name of the Security Building and Loan Association of Homestead, Pa., which has long since gone out of business, and the residence, whereabouts or location of the said holder of the said mortgage, or its officers, is unknown; that there now exists the legal presumption of the payment of the mortgage by reason of the lapse of time, yet no satisfaction appears on the record thereof; that the period of twenty-one years and upwards has elapsed since the principal of the said mortgage became due and payable and no payment on account of either principal or interest has been made within that period on said mortgage, and no demand has been made therefor by anyone.
Wherefore the court made the following order:
"ORDER OF COURT.
"And now, to-wit: January —, 1928, the within petition presented in open court and upon consideration thereof, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that the Sheriff of Allegheny county serve a notice stating the facts set forth in the said petition, upon the holder of the said mortgage, if to be found in the said county, and if not so found, then to give public notice by advertisement, in one or more newspapers published within the said county once a week for four weeks successively prior to the next term of court, requiring said party to appear at said term and answer the petition as aforesaid, or show cause why satisfaction of said mortgage should not be entered of record as prayed for."
ROBERT H. BRAUN, Sheriff.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania. In re application for satisfaction of mortgage. No. 1082 April Term, 1928.
To John E. Du Bois, executor of the estate of John Du Bois, or whoever may be the holder of said mortgage, take notice:
That Hermann L., Ludwig I. and Frederick C. Grote, trustees under the deed of trust of C. H. Grote, have filed a petition in the aforesaid court at the above number and term, setting forth among other things that they are the owners of certain real estate situate on Fifteenth ave., borough of Homestead, Allegheny county, Pa., bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning on the southeasterly side of Fifteenth avenue at the distance of 57.50 feet southwardly from the corner of West street; thence extending in front or width on Fifteenth avenue southwardly 25 feet to Lot No. 21 in said sub-division plan; thence along the line of said Lot No. 21 southeastwardly 91.21 feet to land of West; thence along land of said West northwestwardly 25.5 feet to Lot No. 19 in said sub-division plan; thence along the line of said Lot No. 19 northwestwardly 89.54 feet to the place of beginning.
That there appears on the records of the Recorder's office of Allegheny county against said property an unsatisfied mortgage originally given by Patrick Sweeney to Robert M. Kennedy, and is dated September 13, 1887, acknowledged September 20, 1887, and recorded September 21, 1887, in Mortgage Book Vol. 277, page 442, for the sum of two hundred ten dollars, payable in four equal annual installments from the date thereof, the same being given to secure the unpaid balance of the purchase money. That the said Robert M. Kennedy transferred and assigned the above mortgage by deed of assignment, dated June 19, 1884, acknowledged June 19, 1884, and recorded June 19, 1884, in Mortgage Book Vol. 311, page 113, to John Du Bois, who has since died, his estate being in the hands of John E. Du Bois, his executor and sole devisee; that the residence, whereabouts or location of the said holder of the said mortgage, which has been paid, is unknown; that there now exists the legal presumption of the payment of the mortgage by reason of the lapse of time, yet no satisfaction appears on the record thereof; that the period of twenty-one years and upwards has elapsed since the principal of the said mortgage became due and payable, and no payment on account of either principal or interest has been made within that period on said mortgage, and no demand therefor has been made therefor by anyone.
Wherefore the court made the following order:

THIS WAGGISH WORLD by Roy K. Moulton

MAKING A BOOB OF OLD JOHN PUBLIC.

THERE is a man down on Cape May, according to rumor, who is exhibiting an animal, or a saurian, or a fish, or something with the head of a calf and the tail of an alligator. The story goes that many people are interested, and we are not surprised, although the animal is made of rubber. It is easier to get these wise guys of this day and age interested in fakes than in real things.

If a man should appear on any Fifth avenue corner and announce that he had raw eggs which could be bounced on the stone sidewalk, he would immediately collect a crowd of 5,000 to 10,000 persons and they would buy all the eggs without asking him to bounce one.

If a man should start out selling seedless billiard balls and explain that they were much better than the old ones, he would immediately get rich.

It would be bromidic to repeat what old P. T. said, but, since his days, the exploitation of the public has been brought down to a science, he had only the rudiments, but he was very good, in his small way, even at that.

Barnum made them pay to see a white elephant, a wax mermaid, a Cardiff giant with a solid rock dome and a Chinese junk full of mandarins.

YES, old P. T. was good. It is a shame to think of the fun he could have had if he could only have lived 75 years later. He was only an amateur, of course, but, then, he was dealing with amateur boobs. What a swath he could cut among the real ones if he lived today.

People today are more sophisticated. They go to see a dancing act and think it is a prize fight. They go to a prize fight and think it is a dancing act.

The public has got to be exploited every once in a while to keep down its ego. It would be a shame to withhold this exploitation from the people, for they love it and they have got to have it.

SOME of our favorite forms of exploitation are: Hundreds of foreign lecturers coming over and telling us how crude we are; fake and foolish so-called "charitable" enterprises sending out millions of begging letters every day and using the proceeds to pay their own salaries; stuffed-shirt statesmen, grafting enforcement agents, imitation "old masters," fresh made "antiques" and fake religions.

We are exploited by grafters, bootleggers, gunmen, bucketeers, bums and loafers, prophets and pacifiers. We support them all. We like that kind of stuff and eat it up.

Some one must act as impresario to arrange these exploiting entertainments for us and take our money or we might spend it for something else.

Clark to Be Commended For Movie Safety Stand

The statement attributed to James M. Clark, public safety director, that one-third of the movie theaters of Pittsburgh are fire hazards, is startling, to say the least. As a result of an investigation in which it was disclosed safety measures were ignored, one theater had been closed until fire regulations had been complied with. Now every theater is to be inspected and those that are found lax in safety precautions will be made to cease business until faults are remedied.

It is stated that rubbish and inflammable material is permitted to accumulate, that films are not stored in metal containers, as required by law, that in some houses aisles are too narrow, that there are not enough exits and wiring is defective in others.

In well regulated houses, of course, every safeguard to protect the lives of patrons and the valuable property represented in the theater itself is taken, and that should be the rule in every movie house, large or small.

Director Clark is to be commended for his decision that those owners who, through laxity, make their houses a menace to the public, shall turn over a new leaf or lose their licenses.

Pittsburgh Can Be Proud Of New Stanley Theater

With the opening of the new Stanley Theater tonight, Pittsburgh finds itself fortunate in having another great temple of entertainment answering a need which the builders were quick to supply as soon as the necessity became evident.

The Stanley is something in which our public can take pride because it is a magnificent structure that is a distinct addition to the civic advantages of the city. Its owners, the Stanley-Davis-Clark interests, are proud of their new great theater, and we rightfully share that feeling with them because it represents a mighty growth of Pittsburgh enterprise.

It was in Pittsburgh that the moving picture theater had its birth, and Harry Davis, one of the men who were instrumental in bringing it into being, for years was active in a business of which the imposing Stanley is one of the fruits. Another pioneer in the "movie game," as it is called, is James B. Clark, who, with Richard Rowland, began with a few hundred dollars and a small theater, and made the enterprise swell to mammoth proportions. It was Mr. Clark who projected what now is the Stanley, carried to wondrously creditable achievement by the combination that succeeded both him and Mr. Davis.

Thus the Stanley is a particularly Pittsburghesque fruition of pioneering in something that made its original appeal to the public through gaudy fronts which, with a few cheap chairs, transformed a store room into a theater. It is a fairy story which has no parallel except in the photoplay industry.

Worrying About Niagara
Why Not PROTECT the Cliff?

Canada and this country are worried about Niagara. The great cliff of rock over which the river falls, producing power worth millions annually, is gradually wearing away and retreating upstream.

The loss is especially great on the Canadian side, where 95 per cent of the water rushes over. There the ledge of rock is said to wear away five feet each year. On the New York side, with erosion less, the retreat is only six inches a year. The rock on the bed of the river is strong, but under it there is a soft sandstone which crumbles as it gets wet and worn. It falls and causes the hard rock above to fall off in great pieces.

All now living will be dead before this condition becomes serious, but the duty of government is to look far ahead.

Why not, to begin with, take the water from the river, from a point well above the Falls, through strong pipes, to power turbines below the Falls, thus diminishing the amount of water that goes over the rock and wears it away.

At night, ALL THE WATER MIGHT BE USED THROUGH UNDERGROUND TUNNELS AND CARRIED DOWN TO THE FOOT OF THE FALLS SO THAT DURING THE HOURS OF DARKNESS THERE WOULD BE NO WEAR AT ALL ON THE STONE CLIFF.

The amount of power used, and perhaps stored, would be gigantically increased.

During the night hours, with the rock uncovered, no water going over, the rocky edge of the Falls could be protected with a covering of hardened steel or other material that would last indefinitely. The problem can be solved if it seems worth while. Ask Mr. Farrell, of the "big steel" company; Mr. Schwab or Henry Ford, who has specialized in hard steel.

"Don't Be Silly"
That's the Cry of Those That Are Silly

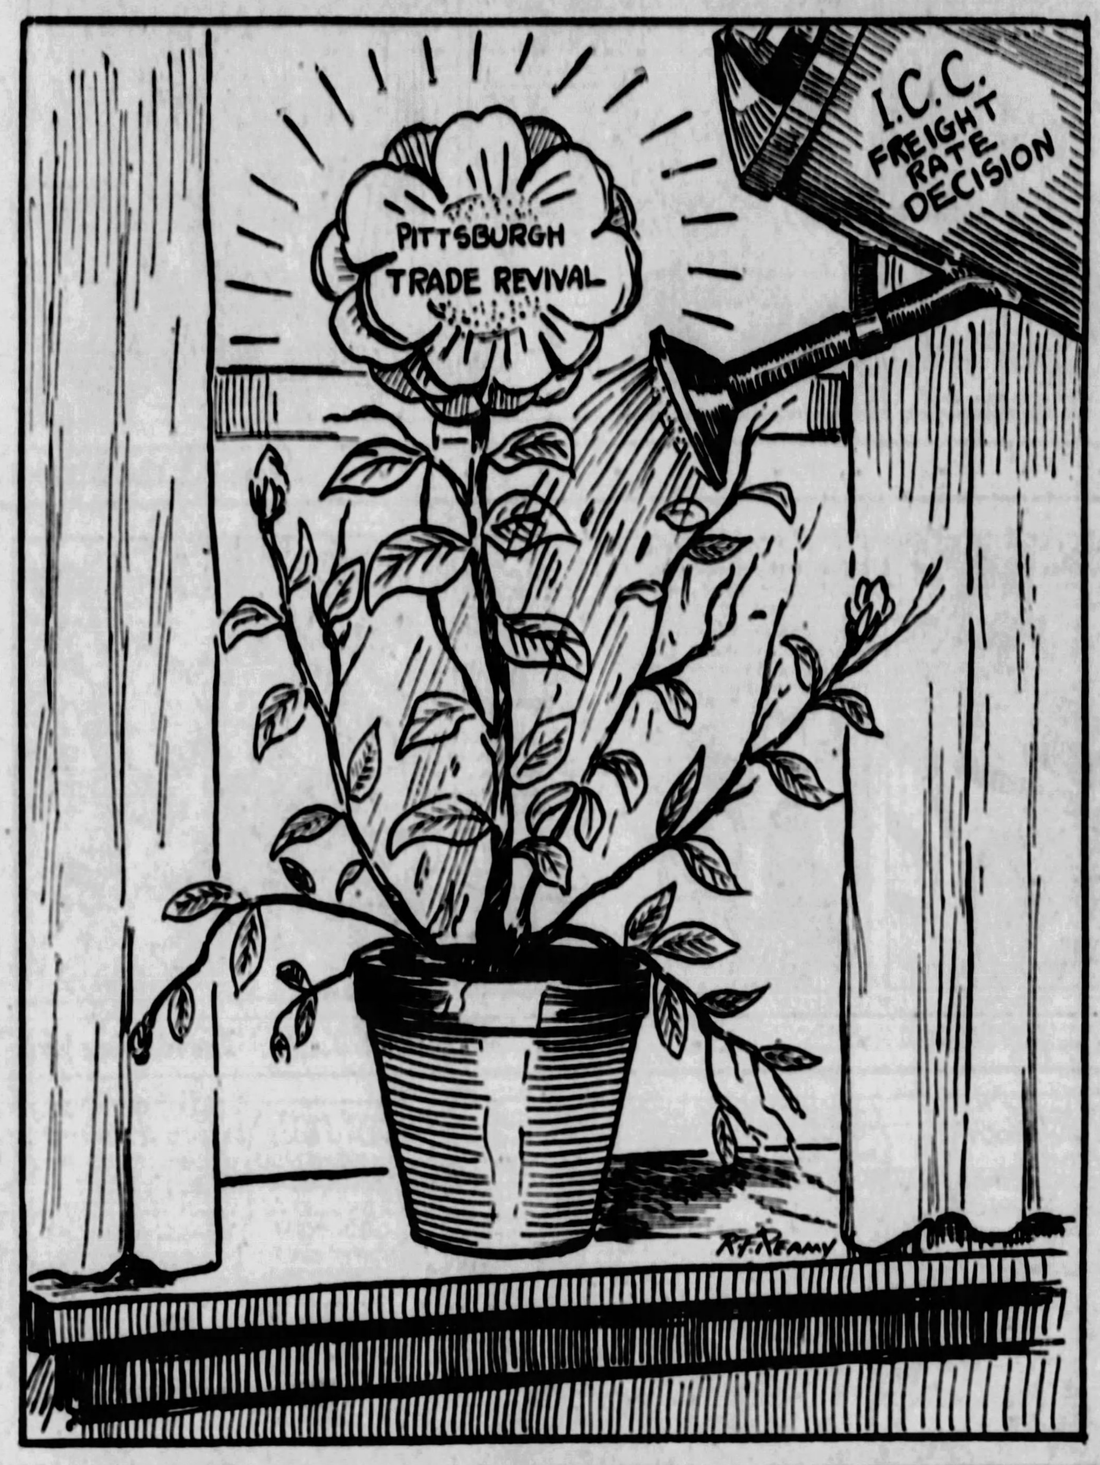
We take things for granted a few minutes after they happen. Suppose that twenty years ago some one had predicted this.

A high school teacher of Detroit, in her brief Christmas vacation, will fly to Mexico to see her son. He will fly from Mexico City to meet her in the air, and escort her to the landing field.

That prediction would have been thought silly. But that is exactly what happened. Mrs. Lindbergh flew from the high school where she teaches in Detroit, to spend one or two days of her vacation with her fine son in Mexico City. He flew out to meet her.

But if you predict, or even express a hope that other things no remarkable will happen, the same old crowd will say, "Don't be silly."

Some Flowers That Bloom Before Spring—Tra-la



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Old Sol Comes Swinging Up

NO MATTER what winter may do now, he is too late. He has Old Sol hot on his heels. True, the end of February sometimes sees the coldest weather of the entire season, but then it can't last; it is only a belated blast from the blue-nose country. It is a cheering thing to watch in spring the upcoming of the sun from his winter lodge in the south. Most people, I fear, take it as a matter of course and don't notice the phenomenon at all.

He comes with the resistless march of a conqueror, steadily pushing the rolling and spreading waves of brightening light before him. Swiftly the reflection from his golden chariot, thundering along the highway of the zodiac, sweeps westward under the horizon at sunset, until from the west it begins to glide around further and further toward the north. Then out of the burning sunset seem to come the first faint odors of the vernal flowers.

The ancients, less dulled of sense than we, built altars and great temples to solemnize the march of the vivifying sun. They hailed him with paeans and celebrations and processions in the golden land of the Pyramids; and in the ruder abodes of humanity they built bonfires in his honor on heaven-high mountain altars. We, who sometimes condescend to have a sundial in our dooryard, might at least mark the boundary lines of the sun-god's advance and retreat as he alternately allows the winter to descend upon us, burying the lawn with snow and then drives off the cold invader and brings back the lilacs and the robins.

At the winter solstice, about December 22, the sun is 23½ degrees below the equator, and, in latitude 40 degrees north, it rises and sets about 31 degrees south of the east and west points, respectively. At noon it is only 26½ degrees above the center of the southern horizon.

By the first of February the sun has risen until it is only about 17½ degrees below the equator, and rises and sets about 23 degrees south of the east and west points. At noon it is about 32½ degrees above the southern horizon. The daylight is lengthening, though still several hours shorter than the night.

By March 1 the sun is only 7½ degrees below the equator, and its rising and setting points are, respectively, about 11 degrees south of east and west. At noon the sun is 42½ degrees above the southern horizon. Daylight is approaching equally with night.

March 21 the sun is on the equator and rises and sets exactly east and west. Its height above the southern horizon at noon, in 40 degrees north latitude, is 50 degrees. Daylight and night are of equal length all over the world.

After that, daylight in our latitudes gains in length on night, until, about June 21, the summer solstice arrives. The sun is then 23½ degrees north of the equator, and his altitude above the southern horizon at noon is 73½ degrees, or only 16½ degrees south of the zenith. At that time he rises and sets about 31 degrees north of the east and west points. For hours in the forenoon and afternoon he shines on the north side of houses. It is the heyday of King Sol throughout the northern world.

He sails uninterruptedly around the North Pole at a height of 23½ degrees above the horizon, and all over the mighty Arctic Circle perpetual day reigns. Around the edge of that circle, at a time corresponding to midnight elsewhere, the sun just skims the horizon, as if he were about to set; but it is a joke, for immediately he swings into an upward curve and goes rejoicing around the sky once more—a gay old sun-god with a warming smile.

There was a time when I was quite content to have the sun go off for an annual vacation in the southern hemisphere, letting the sportive snowflakes meanwhile turn our side of the world into a playground; but now I like to have the sun with us. He "never comes a peep too soon, nor brings too long a day."

The Bonny Heather

IT IS not only the blithe spirit that pours itself forth in song.

Sir Harry Lauder, alone in the world now, for both his son and wife are dead, says he sings because he is broken-hearted.

The bonny heather may be in desolate waste, but Sir Harry goes on singing of laughter and love.

Be a Good Sport

ARE you a good sport when you play cards with your wife?

Undoubtedly you have had more experience in card playing than she.

The hundreds of games of draw and other games you have played have made you proficient in any card game you play.

Perhaps your wife is not a bridge enthusiast and therefore does not play well when you are invited out together.

It is mighty shabby of you to become angry and scold your wife when her plays are not right.

It is embarrassing to her to have you do anything of this sort in company.

It shows you off for a boor and puts the sympathy all on her side.

Also to become in earnest over a card game shows that you fail to get any fun out of the game.

What is the use of playing if not for recreation?

Why be so desirous of winning that you are angry every time your partner makes a poor play?

Be a good sport!

The Rhyming Optimist
By ALINE MICHAELIS

Woman

TO woman, ever dear and charming,
Man brings the fruit of toil and dreams;
Her ways, though strange, are so disarming,
Beyond all subterfuge she seems.

To woman, when hope proves a bubble
That at the lightest touch will break,
Man turns, in times of pain and trouble,
To her he brings each grief, each ache.

This woman, riddle of the ages,
Leaves man sometimes with doubting heart;
Yet, fair despair of saints and sages,
What man from all her charms would part?

Something to Think About
By BRUNO LESSING

Marriage, Mothers, Etc.

"MRS. BERTRAND RUSSELL stepped briskly into New York from the Aquitania today and gave her version of a companionate marriage—or 'marriage on approval.' She barely met her husband on his return from his American lecture tour on the same subject, and leaving him to take care of the children in the new Russell school which is bringing up English children according to the new idea, she came right over to begin where he left off."

• • •

The above was published in a newspaper. Maybe it is true. Maybe it isn't. Out of charity, let us hope it isn't.

The picture of a mother "stepping briskly" into New York and talking about companionate marriage on entering upon a lecture tour, is not particularly attractive.

Of course, if a mother has to go in for this kind of work in order to make enough money to provide for the education of her children, one is inclined to draw the mantle of charity over the picture and—forget it.

The picture of a mother "stepping briskly" into the room where her children are being educated, is much more delightful.

This writer is opposed to the idea of parents visiting schools and interfering with or delaying the instruction of children. But one can pardon the impulse of a highly strung parent, filled with suspicion, suddenly deciding to visit a school and see if her children are studying or wasting time. (Of course, if she did it often, she would become a nuisance.)

But the idea of abandoning children in England and leaving their education entirely in the hands of paid instructors, in order that the mother may disseminate her wisdom on companionate marriage and kindred subjects, among benighted Americans, does not, quite, present a picture worthy of admiration.

And, if you devote a lot of real, honest thought to this subject, you will come to a satisfactory conclusion about all this companionate marriage business and every other improvement that has been suggested for the ancient institution of marriage.

You will find this subject is being stirred up principally by those who fail to qualify as ideal parents. Many old maids have their fingers in the pie. And many wives who, as the above newspaper item indicates, leave their husbands to take care of the children.

Marriage without children is a sad affair. Here, again, one drags in the mantle of charity. Marriage, with too many children, under poor economic conditions, is another sad affair. The doctrine of birth control is a glib solution, but has not yet been satisfactorily demonstrated. To attempt to fight the all-powerful tendency of nature is a serious undertaking.

But, as long as there are children in the family, one mother is worth a thousand teachers. And whether she sings or dances or lectures she neglects her highest duty by abandoning her children and depriving them of her constant, loving care, unless necessity forces her to do so.

O. O. McINTYRE
On the Ocean

AT SEA, Feb. 27.—The good ship Paris plows stur'dy through a calm sea for Havre. It cruised off with one of those hectic midnight sailings so popular these days, with passengers in evening dress, as though going to a grand ball. Many had wobbly sea legs before they went over the gangplank.

The voyage began annoyingly. At breakfast a slightly catarrhal British lady with a long neck sat across the aisle, inspecting me through a lorgnon. It was the vacuous, idle stare of one looking at nothing, but like a drowning man. It seemed to make my miserable life swim before me.

As a downright snooty sneer at a tricky digestion, I began the day with calf brains swimming in brown butter. Embarking on the fourteenth crossing, I have come to believe precautions against sea sickness are as futile as telling a movie star he is not so hot.

Anyway, if you have to cross the ocean sipping weak tea, propped up in bed straining a feeble mentality, thinking up a three-letter word meaning a tar container, you might as well stay home and have your fling doing home work for the children.

There are a number of who's whosers aboard. Kathleen and Charles Norris—Charlie with golf trousers evidently designed by Urban, featuring black knee tassels. Ray Long, off to England to interview authors, as though they were not all in America lecturing. Edith Gould and her husband, Tod Browning, a movie director. Vincent Youmans, the composer.

Myron T. Herrick, who is returning to the ambassadoring business in Paris. Claire Luce, who gavottes on suspended mirrors for Ziegfeld, who, I hear, is doing well in the show business. Bruce Reynolds, who authored "Cocktail Continentale," and also sponsers milk white spats with pale blue buttons.

And Mr. Collis. I must tell you about him. He came up the gangplank with a waddling trained sea lion, known affectionately as Herbert. My dog took to Herbert immediately, nipping him near a forward fin and receiving a nice tail slap in the face which sent him spinning across the deck into a puzzled squat.

There is a gentleman from Peru in an adjoining cabin who is the image of the late Valentino. He seems amiable enough, having up to date borrowed three articles of a necessary toilet equipment, a fountain pen and a shirt stud. When he asks for my tooth brush, I'm going to display a bark that is not Peruvian.

* * *

I seem fated to be assigned French cabin stewards with changing voices. This is the third one to snap from deep bass into high soprano with surprising agility. He can skip an octave with a pleasant "Bon Jour." But somehow you grow fearful that with a long sentence he might tear something.

In the smoking room this evening one of those tweedy pipe-smoking voyageurs was explaining to a lady who didn't seem much interested that mental concentration was necessary to avoid sea sickness. She was a joyous flapper with rolled stockings, a lot of bangles and a wind wave bob, and when he suggested she practice concentration by knitting, it was rather amusing to hear her reply: "But I'd rather be ill than knit."

The mystery lady—there's one on every ship—walks decks with a shepherd's crook. She also wears a harem veil. Her manner is queenly and the tip goes around the boat she is a duchess incognito. My guess is she is one of Sam Scribner's burlesque girls.

Three gentlemen whose wives wept softly on their shoulders at the New York dock occupied a table for four at breakfast. A thoughtful chief steward inquired if he might be of further service, and it was suggested he could provide a dazzling blonde for the empty chair. At dinner she was there, all merry, bright and everything. And that, messieurs et mesdames, is service.

Franklin
By DR. FRANK CRANE

The 17th of January was the anniversary of the birthday of Benjamin Franklin.

This is a character in America's story that should be familiar to every boy and girl.

No man was more patriotic, no man braver, no man more capable in so many ways than Benjamin Franklin.

Think of the things he did!

It was he who secured the aid of France for America during the Revolutionary War.

He helped write the Declaration of Independence.

He was instrumental in securing the repeal of the Stamp Act.

He organized the first Anti-Slavery Society.

He founded the University of Pennsylvania.

He was the father of the United States Weather Bureau.

He was responsible for charting the Gulf Stream.

He established the first successful circulating library.

He discovered that lightning is electricity and invented the lightning rod.

He invented Franklin stoves, near and far vision spectacles, the mangle iron, smoke consuming stoves and a copying press for taking copies of manuscripts.

He was editor of the first and most successful newspaper of his time.

His cartoon "Join or Die" was the first newspaper cartoon ever used.

He initiated advertising as a fundamental force in business.

He helped create the first fire insurance company in America.

He first pointed out the possibility of building ships with watertight compartments.

He was a shark at making magic squares.

Although he was entitled to be known as America's greatest citizen, he preferred to be known as Benjamin Franklin, printer.

Here are one or two of his sayings:

"Where there's marriage without love there will be love without marriage."

"Keep your eyes wide open before marriage—half-shut afterwards."

"Wink at small faults, remember thou hast great ones."

LISTEN, WORLD!
By ELSIE ROBINSON.

God's Finger

ON THE walls of the Sistine Chapel in Rome, Michael Angelo placed a noble painting. It is called, "The Creation of Man," and the awe and beauty of that divine act must have thundered in Michael Angelo's heart as he laid the pigments. One who has seen it describes it—

"Most long I shall remember, 'The Creation of Man,' where God, majestic, wonderful, leans forward that he may give life—with one little finger touch—to Adam's waiting body. Such a beautiful, manly body, strong, complete, wanting only life to turn its passive repose into vital manhood."

God, bending from His heaven, to give life to His child WITH ONE FINGER TOUCH. The weak and faltering finger of the man meeting the strong, determined 'er of his Go', they are the core of the picture. A fleeting touch, yet that one touch infused man's helpless clay with fire.

You, too, have felt that touch. Not only in those veiled, mysterious hours when, as a babe, you quickened into life. But every day, in a thousand ways which you accept as commonplace, you feel the touch.

EACH THING THAT SPURS YOUR SPIRIT TO A NOBLER HEIGHT, IS GOD'S GREAT FINGER, BRUSHED AGAINST YOUR HEART.

The joy that wakens with the first spring grass—

The peace and faith upon an aging face—

A baby's laugh—

A mother's sacrifice—

The quiet comfort of your fireside—

The pride you feel in some good job, well done—

The tenderness in some great, hulking man—

The courage of some frail, unseasoned boy—

The moving rhythm of some lovely song—

The beauty of the sunset—surging seas — storm clouds shot through with silver of the falling rain—a line of poplars, bending in the wind—the sting of salt blown foam—the feel of lush, June grass upon your face—

ALL THAT IS BEAUTIFUL AND BRAVE AND KIND—ALL THAT IS FAIR AND GENEROUS, TRUE AND CLEAN, IS GOD'S STRONG FINGER, WAKING YOUR POOR CLAY.

Take not the touch lightly—it's a miracle—as great a miracle as Eden ever saw. Remember that. And do not take for granted anything that lights a spark within your darkened flesh. Be not misled by cynics or by scientists who see no further than their test tubes.
